GOP Controlled Assembly Delays Budget Hearings

HARRISBURG (UP) — The Republican controlled General Assembly has reversed its field and decided to postpone committee hearings on Gov. George M. Leader's $1,604,338,735 General Fund budget until the session convening Feb. 18.

House Majority Leader Albert W. Johnson (R-McKean) said the GOP leaders decided to devote next week's session to organizing the chamber's Appropriations Committee in order to "do the job right." Earlier Johnson said the committee would begin hearings next Monday.

He predicted the committee would require six to eight weeks to audit the budget. High on the list of problems to be solved is the administration's proposal for $108,613,231 in new revenue in the face of Republican declarations to "hold the line" against new taxes.

Johnson took issue with the governor's request for new revenue, terming it "far from the whole truth." He said Leader was actually asking the Legislature to provide $359,000,000 more in revenue from taxes and other sources than were used in the two-year fiscal period ending May 31.

Johnson said the governor has asked the Legislature to provide $1,604,000,000 for the General Fund, including $82,000,000 for an estimated deficit which Johnson said was caused by "the administration breakdown in the collection of the sales tax." He said that figure was $359,000,000 more than the administration estimated will be collected by the Commonwealth during the current biennium.

"What the governor really means when he talks about $108,000,000 in new taxes is that is the amount that he wants the Legislature to raise but he won't take any responsibility for saying how it should be done," Johnson said.

Says Needs Higher

He said the lawmakers would have to increase the state's revenue by nearly $350,000,000 if it followed the governor's recommendations, an increase of 60 per cent since Leader assumed office.

The Republicans, apparently slowed down by Leader's failure to include a tax recommendation in his budget bluepring, said party leaders from both chambers would meet here Sunday night to map general policy to follow in spreading out the state's spending over the next two years.

In a brief flurry of activity Wednesday, both chambers passed and sent to the governor a bill to pay the legislators $504.750 in expenses for July 1, 1956 through

Carmen Pasquale Gets Diplomatic Post in Montreal

Carmen R. Pasquale, former Monessen man who is in the U. S. Foreign Service, has recently taken up his latest diplomatic assignment at Montreal, Quebec, Canada.

Pasquale will serve as executive officer and senior consular officer of the U. S. Consulate General at Montreal.

Prior to his new assignment, Pasquale was chief of employe relations of the Department of State in Washington.

He has been in government services ince 1935 and held various posts in the Federal Housing Administration until he was commissioned in the Foreign Service in 1952.

Pasquale's first diplomatic post was in the U. S. High Commissioner's office at Frankfurt, and returned to Washington in 1954 for his tour of duty at the State Department.

Recently Pasquale attended a two-month executive management seminar at the University of Pittsburgh along with 78 business and government executives from many parts of the world.

Pasquale is married and the father of four children. Mrs. Pasquale and three of the children are now in Montreal. The eldest son, Richard, remained in Washington where he will be graduated from Gonzaga High School in June. He then hopes to attend McGill University in Montreal.

Local Chamber Members Will Attend Clinic

The Monessen Chamber of Commerce will be represented when the United States Chamber's "Across-the-nation Aircade" visits Pittsburgh on Tuesday, Feb. 19.

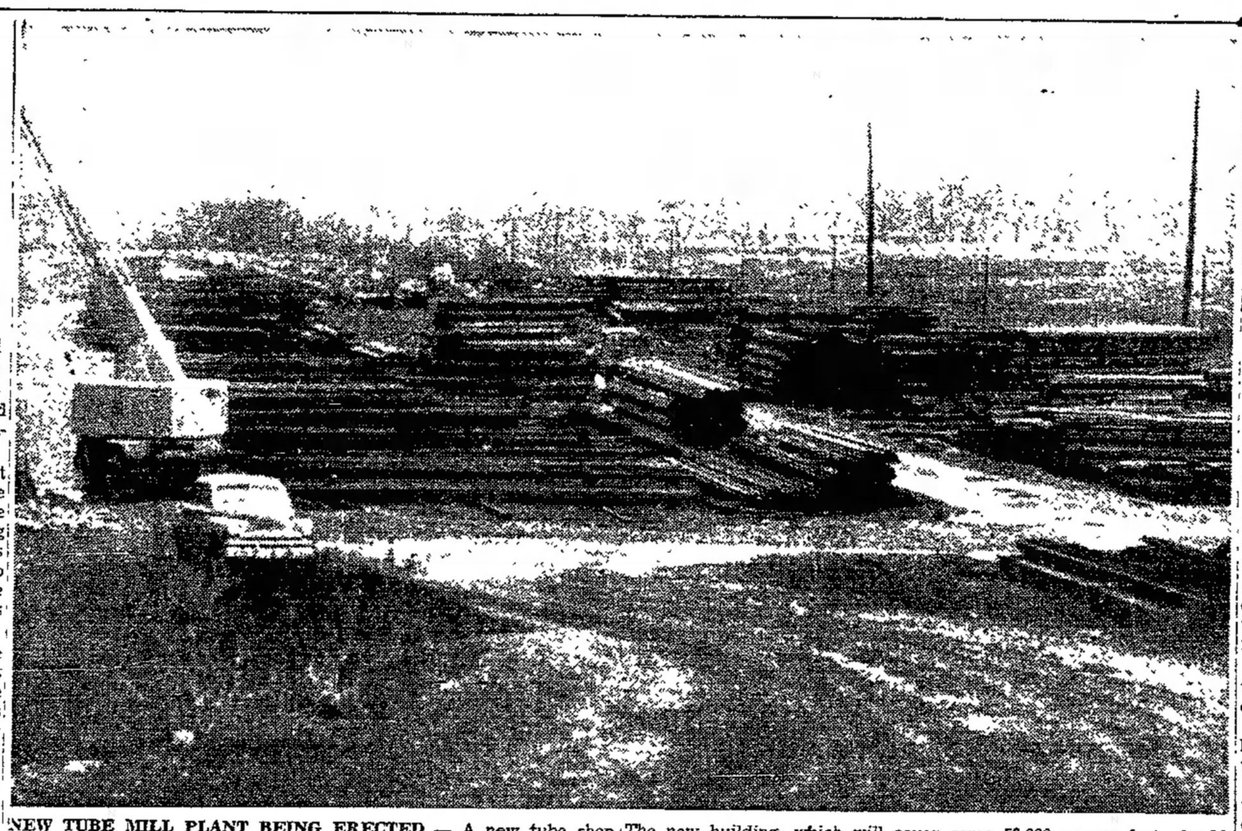
The clinic will be held at Webster Hall, Oakland. The main topic for discussion will be devoted to national legislation and how it affects business and economy.

A team of specialists for the U. S. Chamber, headed by John S. Coleman, president, will conduct the clinic. The team is flying by chartered plane to various cities in the nation.

Attending from Monessen will be Charles W. Hagerstrand, president, and John R. Abernethy, Norman Henderson, Joseph Friedland, George Cieply and Francis Miller.

$22,500 Is Verdict

GREENSBURG, Pa., (UP)—A Westmoreland County jury today returned a verdict awarding $22,500 damages to Pearl and Howard Crosby, of Pittsburgh, in an automobile accident suit against Irving D. Cummins.



NEW TUBE MILL PLANT BEING ERECTED — A new tube shop is being erected at the Monongahela Division plant of Combustion Engineering, Inc. Excavation work has started and the installation of the steel frames seen above will begin sometime next month. The new building, which will cover some 52,000 square feet, should be completed sometime in September. It will provide employment for about 150 persons. The plant is located near the Monongahela bridge.

Combustion Engineering in Expansion Plan for Valley

Work has begun on the erection of a new tube shop at the Monongahela Division plant of Combustion Engineering, Inc.

The new shop, which will eventually mean employment for about 150 persons, is being erected on newly acquired property adjacent to present building. Combustion's Monongahela plants are located on the Webster-Monongahela road on Route 31.

The tube shop will be composed of one bay 85 feet by 600 feet, long, housing some 52,000 square feet of production space. It will be 30-feet high.

The new shop will have a steel frame, corrugated asbestos siding and roof and concrete floor. At present, work crews are excavating. The steel frame installation is scheduled to begin next month and the entire building should be ready for occupancy by September of this year.

850 Employes

Some 850 persons are now employed at the Monongahela plant. A. R. McClain, general manager of the Monongahela Division, said offices, washrooms, engineering room and first aid facilities will be afforded in lean-tos and separate buildings. The new shop will house sufficient tube fabricating equipment which will enable the division to handle the additional load of tube fabrication required to meet production demands.

Another feature of the new tube production, McClain said, is that the tubing from the mills will be brought into the present storage yard as is currently being done, thence flow through the 600-foot bay and be shipped on the opposite end where an additional railroad spur is being constructed. He said this will eliminate any cross or back flow of work in process.

Some space will be vacated in the original tube plant, enabling the division to take on still additional tube work and to expand

Heavy Damage In Three-car Accident Here

Damage was extensive but no one was reported badly injured in a three-car accident on Summit avenue about 10:55 last night, Chief of Police Michael Kuvinka reported today.

Reports said a car operated by Patty Buchar, of 969 Schoonmaker avenue, struck the rear of a car driven by Mrs. Betty Bubar, of 1108 Graham avenue. The force of the crash shoved the Bubar vehicle into a car driven by Ray Cocciolone, of 1280 Schoonmaker avenue.

Police said the Bubar and Cocciolone machines had stopped for traffic and the Buchar car, which was following, was unable to stop in time.

Police instructed all three drivers to file accident reports.

Mrs. Bubar complained of neck pains and said she will see a physician today.

Mongah Mine Faces Shutdown

The Mongah coal mine, which ceased operations last week, will be permanently shutdown unless it can be leased to another company, it was learned today.

The Mongah mine is owned by Pittsburgh Coal Co. About 115 men are affected by the shutdown.

Since its reopening in 1955, after it had been closed for two years because of a spectacular $50,000 fire in 1953, the mine had been operating on a steady five-day week.

The mine is located near Bunola, not far from the Monongahela bridge.

Russia's Latest 'Spy' Charges Are Ridiculed

WASHINGTON (UP)—U.S. officials today labeled Russia's latest "spy" charges against the United States as another effort to divert attention from Russia's own "difficulties."

The Soviet government Wednesday accused the United States of waging a "secret war" of espionage and sabotage against Russia. It produced for newsmen in Moscow four Russian nationals alleged to have been trained in Germany for spy work and parachuted into the Soviet Union by U.S. intelligence forces.

There was immediate speculation in Washington that the Soviets were trying to divert attention from the arrest and indictment in New York City of three Lithuanian-born persons accused of committing espionage against the United States for Russia.

Officials said it could not be accidental that the new Soviet charges came only two days after that espionage indictment was returned.

But, as usual in instances of Russian "spy" accusations, U.S. officials were silent on specific questions.

Z. E. Harkleroad, of National Red Cross headquarters, Washington, D. C., was instructor.

Taking the course were Elliott Bianchi, of 217 Linden avenue; Ben Bilotto, of 1416 Lincoln avenue; Mrs. Perry Cozza, of 44 Reed avenue; Paul Duscay, of 118 Third street; Mrs. Loretta Reed, of 1401 Jones street, and John Sucevic, of 1218 Schoonmaker avenue, all of Monessen; Mrs. Roy Bankerd, of 542 Speer street, Belle Vernon; Mrs. Eunice Kissinger, of R. D. 1, Monongahela; Ronald Remy, of California; and Robina LaClair, Catherine Roy Ostrander and Catherine Ostrander, all of Grandview, Donora.

Mrs. Bankerd, Mrs. Cozza, Duscay, Bilotto and Sucevic took the instructions as a refresher course, which is required every three years.

All 12 are qualified to teach first aid.

Fairless Says Aid to China Handled Wisely

SEOUL, Korea (UP)—Benjamin J. Fairless, former chairman of the board of U.S. Steel, said today that U.S. economic aid to Nationalist China has been handled "properly and wisely."

Fairless told newsmen at Taipei Airport, before flying here, that he and the two other members of President Eisenhower's Citizens Advisory Committee were satisfied by everything they saw during their two-day visit to Formosa.

Fairless, Dr. Colegate W. Darden, president of the University of Virginia, and Whitelaw Reid, board chairman of the New York Herald Tribune are on an extensive tour which has taken them through 17 countries of Europe, the Middle East and Asia.

Official Korean sources said the ROK government will hand the group a five-point note calling for increased military assistance and a five-year economic aid program of $5.5 billion.

Britain Trims Interest Rate In Credit Crisis

LONDON (UP) — Britain trimmed one-half per cent off its minimum interest rate today in the first major loosening of credit controls since the dollar crisis and inflation got out of hand last year.

The Bank of England cut its "bank rate" for preferential borrowers from 5½ to five per cent. It was the first cut since January, 1955, when the government increased the rate to decrease pressure on the British economy.

The main benefit of the cut goes to the government itself. Britain's biggest borrower. The move was seen as part of Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's campaign to trim government spending even at the risk of loosening restraints on business spending.

The rate had been at 5½ per cent since Feb. 16, 1956, and was the highest since the 1932 depression. The rate actually had been rising since January 1955 when R. A. Butler, then chancellor of the exchequer, started lifting it from the postwar low of 3 per cent.

Search for Gas Pockets in Reno

RENO (UP)—Crews of workmen poked their way gingerly through a section of blasted downtown Reno today in a search for hidden gas pockets waiting only a spark to touch off another catastrophe.

The workmen were from the city of Reno and the Sierra Pacific Power Company, both of which agreed to check the gas explosion potential in a six-block area.

The area included the site of Tuesday's destructive explosions and fire that killed two persons, injured 42 others, destroyed five buildings and damaged a score of other structures in varying degrees.

Early today, a block and a half of large business buildings remained evacuated lest an undetected pocket of gas suddenly ignite. Martial law was proclaimed in the area.

Ex-Boy Friend Is The Chief Suspect

COLUMBUS, O. (UP)—Jerry Wilson, 19, told police someone threw ink on his car the other night while he visited his girl friend. Monday night it was eggs, and Tuesday night it was white paint.

Hostages Freed By 500 Convicts After 11 Hours

POINT OF THE MOUNTAIN, Utah (UP) — About 500 embittered Utah prison inmates ended more than 11 hours of rioting early today by releasing all hostages and surrendering all weapons.

None of the men who had been held since before 7 o'clock Wednesday night appeared to have been harmed before they walked from the convict-held cellblocks at 8 a.m. EST.

Superintendent Lyle Hyatt of the Utah Highway Patrol said no attempt would be made immediately by officials to regain complete control of the prisoners. He ordered military field kitchens into the compound to prepare breakfast for the inmates.

Then, he said, "we'll ask them to go back to their cells and muck out."

The hostages returned to their homes in various Utah communities.

They were preceded by two convicts—armed robbers Billy Randall and Joe Valdez—who turned over to authorities the weapons they had taken from a captured sentry turret.

Randall carried a machine gun. He handed it to a guard, then gave the officer the ammunition clip for the weapon. He turned to another guard, calmly opened his jacket and took a revolver from his belt.

The inmate opened the chamber to show there were five bullets in the pistol and then, with a flourish, surrendered it.

Eighteen men, including seven members of a Mormon Church basketball team, came out behind Randall and Valdez.

Earlier, 10 other men had been released or made their way to freedom after spending from two to nine hours as hostages.

Only known injuries suffered were stab wounds inflicted on a guard when the riot started and the beating given a convict who was then tossed from the barred corridors by his fellow inmates. Several others suffered smoke poisoning from fires started in various parts of the prison.

Reach Agreement

Attorney General E. R. Callister said the riot ended when the convicts agreed they would let the hostages go if the inmates' list of grievances could be presented publicly. This was done half an hour before the release when Randall and Valdez came out and talked to newsmen.

In turn, Callister reported that Gov. George D. Clyde had promised there would be no recriminations if the hostages came out unharmed.

As the hostages—young athletes, veteran guards and a quartet of student instructors at the prison night school—came out they went into the warden's office where they were closeted with Clyde.

Fires were still burning in the warehouse near the kitchen as the riot ended. The kitchen itself was a shambles. Damage in other parts of the six-year-old penitentiary was extensive, with few windows left intact.

Clyde said the Board of Corrections would investigate the riot "very soon," and also look into the entire prison operation. While there will be no reprisals, the governor said the "law will take its

Super Liner Makes Landing without Tugs

NEW YORK (UP)—The superliner United States, queen of the U.S. merchant fleet, docked without tugs today "so gracefully that not a noise was heard" and not a scratch marred her hull.

"This was a perfect landing," said Capt. Jones F. Devlin, general manager of the United States Lines, "the most graceful I ever saw, with or without tugs. Capt. John Anderson, commodore of the United States, did a masterful job."

It was the first time that the liner, third largest in the world and holder of the transatlantic speed record over the two larger British Queens, had been docked without the usual assistance of tugboats, whose crews are on strike throughout the harbor. The operation took a little more than 30 minutes.

With most of her 1,493 passengers watching from the rails, the United States pulled up at right angles to her North River pier and dropped a port bow anchor. Weather conditions were excellent. A heavy mist hung over the river, but there was virtually no wind, and the waters were almost glassy.

A deckhand threw a line and dock workers hauled in the heavy hawser it guided.

The ship's bow swung slowly to the right, coming to rest silently against the pier corner, or knuckle.

At 9:45 a.m., the anchor was

Crash-lands Airliner; 38 Aboard Are Calm

JACKSON, Miss. (UP)—A Delta Airlines Constellation with 38 persons aboard crash-landed on an airport runway here today in an emergency operation so smooth that a two-year-old passenger believed it was a game.

None of the 33 passengers and five crew members of the four-engined New York-to-Dallas airliner was hurt in the landing but one passenger sprained an ankle while leaving the plane.

The Constellation circled the Jackson Airport for more than an hour using up fuel before trying to land on a landing gear that would not lock.

Capt. B. C. Gordon of Newark, N.J., brought the plane down at 5:02 a.m. EST after returning from Shreveport, La., where the airport was weathered in.

The wheels touched the runway and buckled. The plane veered to the left, ran off the runway and crashed on its wing in the mud.

Mrs. C. E. Lowe of Atlanta, enroute to Dallas, sprained an ankle when passengers were hustled off hurriedly for fear fire would break out.

Salvation Army Major H. G. Chancey of West Palm Beach, Fla., said it was the "calmest crowd I have ever seen."

"The captain dismissed all panic and he assured us everything would be all right," Chancey said.

Chancey was traveling with his two-year-old son, David, and the minister said the youngster "thought we were having a game"

Sen. Dent Denies State Workers Are Pressured

State Sen. John H. Dent, of Jeannette, has denied any orders have been issued from Harrisburg for or against any Westmoreland County candidate

The Westmoreland Democratic minority leader in the Senate, Dent said that he had been informed there are "charges . . that state employes are being subjected to undue pressure to participate in the primary election in behalf of specific candidates."

Dent said:

"As for myself, I can assure the public employes that they did not relinquish their rights of free choice in a public election by accepting state employment.

"I am sure the public employes will use their best judgment . . . and will select candidates who will be a credit . . . There are absolutely no orders issued from Harrisburg for or against any candidate."

He said Westmoreland County has long had Democratic government in control, and "in all these years there has been no evidence that the party has ever used undue pressure to force any employe — county or state or otherwise — into a given political slot."

Dent's announcement came on the heels of a request made last Monday by Joseph M. Loughran, a candidate for County Common Pleas Court, that the secretary of State Highways, Joseph L. Lawter, investigate "coercion and macing by the superintendent of highways in Westmoreland County on behalf of certain judicial candidates" opposing Loughran.

Patrick W. McShane, county superintendent, has denied the accu-

3 Memorials

In loving memory of our dear son and brother, Joseph Platko, who died 12 years ago today, February 7, 1945.
He has gone across the river,
To the shores of ever green,
How we'd love to see his smiling face,
But the rivers flow between;
And our aching hearts are calling,
To the shadows dark and grey,
For the dear one who has left us,
Twelve years ago today.
Sadly missed by Mother, brothers, and sisters.

In loving memory of Peter Lovich who died 16 years ago, February 7, 1941.
The depth of sorrow we cannot tell
Of the loss of one we loved so well,
And while he sleeps a peaceful sleep,
His memory we shall always keep.
Sadly missed by Mrs. Eli Vuletich and Family

In loving memory of our beloved husband and father, William Frew, who passed away February 7, 1954.
Remembrance is a golden chain,
Death tries to break but all in vain;
To have, to love, and then to part
Is the greatest sorrow of one's heart.
Sadly missed by his wife and family

Six Pittsburgh Teenagers Hurt In Auto Crash

WIERTON, W. Va. (UP)— Six Pittsburgh teenagers and an Ohio man were injured critically shortly before midnight in a headon automobile collision on a dangerous curve during a fog.

Only a few hours before the collision the Weirton Traffic Commission requested that a warning sign be placed at the curve. The accident occurred on Route 22 at a spot known as Weirton Heights Hill, within the city limits.

The teenagers, riding in one car, were identified as Edwin Clinger Jr., 18, Robert Zielinski, 18, James St. Clair, 16, Henry Brubach. 17, Charles Paullen, 19, and Dennis Pascuzzi, 19.

Harry Wilson, 55, of (535 N. 4th St.) Steubenville, Ohio. was alone in the other car driving home from Pittsburgh.

Police Lt. Andrew Olenik was able to speak to Wilson only briefly at Weirton General Hospital. The teenagers could not be questioned. Four physicians performed emergency surgery on the youths at the hospital.

Olenick said it was not determined which of the teenagers was driving. He said draft cards belonging to two of the older boys were found in the pockets of two of the other boys.

State to Buy Home to Help Retarded Children

HARRISBURG (UP) — Gov. George M. Leader announced today the General State Authority will purchase the former Cambria County Children's Home at Ebensburg for conversion to a $4,100,000 project to house mentally retarded children.

The governor said the board of the authority approved buying the home for $250,000. The project will increase the capacity of the home from 100 to 400 children. The purchase also includes a 120-acre tract. where land will be set aside for construction of a new state police substation.

The board also approved:

1. A revised flood protection program for the Juniata River basin, increasing the allocation by $210,500. The three projects in the basin call for an estimated expenditure of $1,480,500 in authority funds. However, the borough of Everett will contribute $54,000, Huntingdon Borough $58,000 and Smithfield Twp. $64,000 as part of the cost in their areas.

2. A $600,000 project for a central storage warehouse at Polk State School, Venango County.

3. A $25,000 project for rehabilitation of the first floor of a Western Penitentiary building at Pittsburgh.

4. Purchase of a site at the Lock Haven State Teachers College, Clinton County, for eventual construction of a $1,000,000 men's dormitory.

The board also elected House Speaker W. Stuart Helm (R-Armstrong) as assistant secretary replacing former House Speaker Hiram G. Andrews (D-Cambria), who is no longer a member of the board.

U. S. Agreement With Saudi Arabia On Air Bases

WASHINGTON (UP)—The United States and Saudi Arabia today were reported near twin agreements on a new U.S. lease on the Dhahran Air Base and American arms for Saudi Arabia.

Diplomatic informants said the only apparent question is whether the agreements will be signed while King Saud is visiting in Washington or later in Saudi Arabia.

A report on the air base, arms and other agreements and understandings will be made public on Friday by President Eisenhower and King Saud at the conclusion of their Washington talks. The King is expected to leave Washington on Saturday.

Mr. Eisenhower is delighted at the warm response given by Saud and two other visiting Arab leaders — Prince Abdul Illah of Iraq and Lebanese Foreign Minister Charles S. Malik — to his explanation of American policies in the Middle East. Saud summed up the reaction of all three Arab visitors when he told a news conference Wednesday that the Eisenhower Doctrine "is good: it is one that is entitled to appreciation" by the Arab people.

Titusville Wants To Change Discount

HARRISBURG (UP)—The city of Titusville has proposed replacing its 5 per cent "prompt payment" discount to users of its municipal water supply outside city limits with a 10 per cent penalty for non-payment within 10 days after bills are received.

The change, submitted to the Public Utility Commission Tuesday, would affect 99 consumers in Oil Creek, Crawford County, and Cherrytree, Venango County. The revision would make suburban rates identical to those within the city and would bring an estimated $96 in additional revenue.

'Wolf' Is Gayest At Party

NEW YORK (UP)— John H. Lee, known as "The Wolf," has always been a gay blade. Wednesday, he was at his gayest.

For more than a year, Lee, who is 91, has been concentrating on his "girl-whistling" and dancing at East Rockaway Nursing Home.

A particular favorite of the nurses, the silver-haired "Wolf" has made a practice of chatting with other guests and finding out what they need or want. Then he has dropped helpful hints to their visitors.

Although television has not been a part of the retired Long Island Railroad foreman's life and he has missed seeing the last three of his nine great grandchildren, nurses at the home say he has remained their favorite gay blade.

"The Wolf," they say, has had his troubles, but he has made himself contented, calling his burden "God's will."

Last month he underwent a delicate operation and Wednesday, the nursing home was able to have a party in his honor. All the nurses and guests were there to share "The Wolf's" happiest day.

For six years "The Wolf" had been totally blind. The operation, which the nurses had urged and even offered to help pay for, gave him back his eyesight.

"If there is any lesson in all this, Lee told his friends, "I guess it must be that no matter how old you are or how afflicted, you shouldn't give up hope."

Would Regulate State Barbers

HARRISBURG (UP)—Two Luzerne County legislators today rpoposed to tighten the requirements for the licensing of barbers and increase the registration fees.

The bills, sponsored by Reps. James J. Jump, a Republican, and Democrat James Musto, would increase examination fees from $5 to $10 require at least a tenth grade education for prospective barbers and would limit shop hours from 8 a. m. to 7 p. m. on week days. It would prohibit barbering on Sundays and egal holidays.

Other provisions of the two bills spell out penalties for violators, regulate the floor space for shops and outline the duties of the State Board of Barber Examiners.

Delivery Strike Ends

NEW YORK (UP)— Newspaper delivery men voted Wednesday night to end a six-day strike against 31 wholesale distributors that partially disrupted deliveries of newspapers and magazines in New York City and its suburbs.

Personal Income Higher Than 1955

WASHINGTON (UP)—Personal income of Americans in 1956 totaled a record $325 billion, an increase of about $19 billion over 1955, the Commerce Department reported today.

The previous high of $306.1 billion was set in 1955.

Simultaneously the Census Bureau reported that the nations, expanding economy led to a new import peak last year. It said in a preliminary report that 1956 U.S. imports totaled a record $12.5 billion. Imports were valued at $11 4 billion in 1955, the previous high.

American Communists Looking to Negroes To Spark Comeback

(The last of three dispatches on the U. S. Communist Party)

NEW YORK (UP) — American Communists are looking to 16 million Negroes, the peril of inflation and a sharp shift in tactics to spark a comeback.

The decks are cleared for the four-day 16th national party convention opening in New York this Saturday. Three hundred delegates, including recent alumni from federal prisons, will gather to "debate" — and approve — a resolution of independence from Moscow and a new 6,000-word constitution. They may be asked to ratify changes in the party leadership.

The new constitution allows members to dissent from party decisions — if this does not "endanger party unity." It says that all strikebreakers, spies and advocates of overthrowing or subverting American democratic institutions will be expelled.

William Z. Foster, postwar party chairman, is on the way out, according to Communist sources. He is 76 and ill. He is a Stalinist. He alone on the National Council opposed the "break" with Moscow. He defended the Soviet action in Hungary. He has spoken from the militants, the "tough" line.

Soft Approach Faction

Arrayed opposite him is a faction led by John Gates, editor of the Daily Worker, chief advocate of the "soft" approach, the Tito-style "indepdence" from Moscow.

Straddling the middle is Eugene Dennis, the gray-haired party secretary, who has a habit of abstaining on controversial votes.

Foster's successor is anyone's guess and may not make any difference. The chairman is not all-powerful.

The "split" may be for show purposes, one of those dizzying deviations full of fury but meaning nothing. Don't expect parades around the floor or outbursts at Communist conventions. If there are, don't expect them to change what party leaders have decided.

The Communists will discuss these "serious" errors, self-confessed:

1. The party underestimated American capitalism by predicting depressions in 1945, 1949 and 1954 which never came. It relied too much on Soviet judgments about what was happening in prosperous America.

Yet party officials still wistfully rely on "inflation" and "recession" as their hope to regain old members and win new ones.)

2. It incorrectly believed that America would start World War III and that Americans would succumb to "McCarthyism."

Advocated Negro Nation

3. It made a whopping mistake in supporting Henry Wallace, the progressive candidate, for President in 1948, when he had no mass support from American workers.

4. It wrongly advocated a "Negro nation" in the South instead of fighting alongside others for Negro rights.

Now, all this has changed, says the party. It will try to become a leader in the battle to end segregation. It will, it says, no longer "bore from within" in unions and will abide by majority decisions.

In a resumption of the old "popular front" tactics, it will try to infiltrate the Democratic Party, the trade unions and liberal groups.

It is even considering disbanding as a party, and calling itself a "political action association." Just as the "Declaration of Independence" might upset moves based on the party's subservience to Moscow, so the dissolution of the party could send J. Edgar Hoover's FBI agents on a merry chase into the underground.

"And now the American Communists would have us believe that they have changed their philosophy." Hoover warns. "What a farce that is. . .

Tactics Not New

"There is nothing really new in the current Communist tactics. The American Communist Party from the time of its inception in 1919 has changed its name nine times. The constitution of the Communist Party of this country has been changed 17 times, zigging and zagging for the attainment of its diabolical ends through deception and double talk."

"Regardless of what it does this weekend)." Hoover said, "of this you can be sure — it will be the same old crowd at the same old stand banded together for the same old purpose—to advance the Communist cause and serve the Soviet Union.

"They will use the same old technique with which they have hoodwinked so many people in the past."

Girl Scouts of Pack One, Fellsburg, traveled by bus to the Buhl Planetarium, Pittsburgh, Saturday, to see a sky show and to view many exhibits.

Explorer Scouts and Boy Scouts also made the trip.

Adult leaders accompanied the scouts.

Meat Packing Employes Give To Keep Jobs

DETROIT (UP)—The 376 employes of the Hammond-Standish & Co. meat packing plant are paying out part of their salaries in an effort to keep their jobs and the firm alive.

Joseph Strobl, president of the 99-year-old firm, said Wednesday he was counting on the money to keep the company in business.

Strobl said that if the plan worked the employes would be able to keep their jobs and eventually would get their money back. If it doesn't he said, they lose both job and money.

Strobl said the program of cooperation between management and the members of Packing House Workers Union Local 190 allowed each employe to sign a contract giving 10 per cent of his pay to a special benefit fund for the next five years.

He said he estimated the donations would reach about $90,000 by the end of the five-year period and would be used as working capital and to cover opearting losses.

"If we hadn't made this agreement," Strobl said, "there was a good chance we would have gone out of business but now we hope the plan will let us get out of the red and back into the black again."

Husband Kills Children, Self; Wounds Wife

LAURELVILLE, Ohio (UP)— A 20-year-old mother remained in serious condition today from bullet wounds received in a shooting spree in which her enraged husband killed their two children and himself.

Attendants at Hocking Valley Hospital in nearby Logan said there was "no change" in the condition of Mrs. Phyllis Rowland, shot four times in the face and chest during a reconciliation attempt by her husband, Walter D. Rowland, 40.

Rowland, an unemployed well driller, had been talking calmly with his wife Wednesday, a neighbor said, when he suddenly went berserk.

He shot his wife four times with a .22 caliber pistol, killed their two children, Gary, 3, and Gayle, 1, with single shots to the head, then fired a final bullet into his own head.

Dr. Owen F. Yaw, Hocking County coroner, said Rowland and the younger child died instantly. The boy lived 45 minutes.

Superintendent of State Park Is Fired by Goddard

VALLEY FORGE, Pa. (UP) — George Kenworthy, superintendent of Valley Forge Park, was dismissed Wednesday by Dr. Maurice K. Goddard, State Secretary of Forests and Waters because of "changes in the personnel organization" of the park commission.

Kenworthy, a retired Montgomery County paint contractor, said the dismissal came as a "big surprise" to him and could offer no explanation for it.

He said he didn't know anything about it until he received a letter from Goddard informing him that his employment as park superintendent would terminate Feb. 13.

The letter from Goddard said Kenworthy was dismissed because "I am making changes in the personnel organization at Valley Forge Park Commission," the superindent reported.

Kenworthy, a Democrat, was appointed to the post in August, 1955.

Hidden Weapons Seized At Budapest Factory

VIENNA (UP)—Hungarian government troops raided a factory in suburban Budapest and seized "great quantities" of hidden weapons, Budapest press reports reaching here said today.

The raid was the second of the week in the Communist government's hunt for "counter-revolutionaries" and weapons.

Informed sources here reported the Hungarian government also may be laying the groundwork for an attempt to seize uncooperative Roman Catholic Josef Cardinal Mindszenty from his sanctuary in the U.S. Legation in Budapest.

The sources said this might be behind the charges made against Mindszenty by the official Hungarian newspaper Nep Szabadsag Wednesday.

The Budapest newspaper "Esti Hirlap" said the factory raid in Ujpet, a northern industrial suburb of Budapest, unearthed "great quantities of weapons and other military equipment valued at 30,800 forints ($2,727)."

Budapest Radio had announced the arrest of seven students and three university teachers in a raid earlier this week. They were charged with hiding "great quantities of weapons and conspiring against the regime."

It also was announced today that a new government decree has stiffened the punishment for Hungarians aiding refugees to flee the country. The new penalty is 10 years in prison.

Both Sides Blame Inflation

Ike Gives Another Warning

WASHINGTON (UP) — Spokesmen for business and labor blamed each other today for failing to stop the wage-price spiral that could lead to runaway inflation.

Both sides accuse each other of not putting on the brakes.

President Eisenhower warned Wednesday during a news conference that the government will have to move in with "controls of some kind" if business and labor refuse to hold the wage-price line.

The President again urged both labor and business to act voluntarily so that government action would not be necessary.

He said when the government begins "to control prices and allocations and wages and all the rest then it is not the America we know."

Mr. Eisenhower's warning came only a month after he urged business and labor in his State of the Union Message to exercise self-discipline and base wage-price increases on producuvity. However, at that time he didn't stress the threat of possible government intervention as he did in his latest warning.

AFL-CIO President George Meany charged before a congressional hearing during the day that mounting inflationary pressures come from "dominant corporations in basic industries."

He blamed rising prices on the "price-profit-investment policies" of these "dominant corporations."

But a spokesman for the National Association of Manufacturers said in discussing general NAM policy that "to ward off further inflation union monopolistic powers must be curbed."

He said unions "restrain trade and fix prices; they allocate territories and keep out competition; they limit output."

However, both Meany and the NAM called for tax cuts.

Joseph S. Clark

Clark Supports Ike Doctrine, but Not Resolution

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Sen. Joseph S. Clark (D-Pa) supports President Eisenhower's Middle East doctrine but doesn't like the administration resolution designed to carry it out.

He said Wednesday night the President should have the support of everyone in his efforts to make clear to Russia the United States regards the Middle East as "an area in which the political independence and territorial integrity of all nations must be preserved."

But, he said, the resolution sent to Congress "does not accomplish the desired result."

"The resolution fails even to refer to the serious problems which are creating dangerous conditions in the Middle East," he said.

Clark, who spoke at a dinner of the local Americans for Democratic Action, said he hoped the Senate would revise the resolution to "take notice of the realities of the situation."

course" and prisoners causing damage would be dealt with.

A member of the Board of Corrections, Kingsley Clawson, said that the "boys gave us their word they would release the hostages and give up their arms and they did. . .we took a long gamble but it was worth it."

Starts During Game

The riot started shortly before 10 p.m. EST Wednesday, while members of the Latter-Day Saints (Mormon) Church basketball team were playing a convict five.

The church squad was leading by 10 points with only five minutes to play when a convict came in, announced prisoners had taken control and herded team members into the recreation room over the gymnasium.

There was chaos afterward but the convicts did not harm the basketball players.

Paul Smith, coach of the team, spent six hours as a hostage before he was released.

"Some of the boys were frightened at first," he said. "Eventually everyone relaxed, watching television in the recreation room. The prisoners fed us like kings—pork chops, milk and candy."

Monte Hammond of Draper, Utah, a guard on duty in solitary confinement, said the convicts threatened him.

"They told me they would kill me if I didn't let the men out of my block." Hammond said. "They looked like they meant it. There were 21 men in those solitary cells—and the cons said they had to be released 'or else.'"

Explosion Rocks Prison

An explosion rocked the prison shortly after midnight. It was a blast in the boiler room. It was not known wheher the boiler was exploded by the prisoners or because of lack of attention. Lights went out immediately.

Destruction of the boiler left the prison without heat and temperatures inside dropped below freezing.

The governor said more than 40 demands by convicts for improvement of penitentiary conditions—ranging from better food preparation to establishment of a convict-edited newspaper—would not be considered until all hostages had been released.

Hundreds of windows were smashed—in pure destructiveness or to provide ventilation as smoke poured in from fires ignited by the convicts at a guard station in the rear of the prison and in a linen storeroom.

Thousands of dollars in damage was caused as plumbing was ripped out and other furnishings of the brightly painted cellblocks ruined.

Twelve civilians, including student teachers from Brigham Young University and athletic coaches from nearby high schools, remained in the prison until after midnight. They were not threatened, but fed well and finally released.

Budget

May 31. The measure was the first piece of legislation to reach Leader's desk.

The House unanimously approved and sent to the Senate two bills affecting trucks. One would increase the number of weight classes for licensing purposes from eight to 31 and the other would hike the maximum speed limit for pickup trucks and small delivery vehicles from 40 to 50 miles per hour, on a par with automobiles.

The rebounding "Pennsylvania plan" to take the selection of judges out of partisan politics was introduced again by Sen. Frank W. Ruth (D-Berks). The Senate bill would create a judicial commission to select jurists for appointment to the state Supreme and Superior courts and the Philadelphia and Allegheny County courts.

Senate consideration also was asked for a proposal to repeal the 3 per cent sales tax. Sen. Joseph J. Yosko (D-Northampton) sponsored the measure to drop the tax on May 31. Yosko said he would propose a new tax "based on ability" to pay if his sales tax repealer was adopted.

Both chambers reconvene next Monday for a three day session. The Senate returns at 3 p.m. and the House at 4:30 p.m.

Big Tax Fraud Staff At Work in District

PITTSBURGH (UP)—The return of income tax evasion indictments against a dozen persons in a single session of the federal grand jury was attributed today to a large increase in the number of Treasury Department intelligence agents assigned to fraud work.

A total of 35 to 40 employes now are assigned to fraud work in Western Pennsylvania, compared to 10 to 12 persons in 1953.

In five of the indictments returned by the grand jury Wednesday, the total taxes alleged to have been evaded was more than $138,000.

Among those indicted were George G. Blaisdell, founder and treasurer of the Zippo Mfg. Co. at Bradford, and Samuel J. Brill, assistant secretary of the company. Blaisdell was accused of failure to pay $62,445 in taxes owing for the years 1950 through 1952 and the company of evading $28,140. Brill was accused of aiding in the filing of the alleged fraudulent returns by Blaisdell and the company.

Blaisdell, 61, formerly was part owner of the Blaisdell Oil Co. and is repurted to be a millionaire. Brill, 57, in addition to his Zippo post, is comptroller and secretary of the Kendall Refining Co., of Bradford.

In another indictment, Milo K. Ruse, Uniontown, former president and director of the First National Bank of Point Marion, Pa., was accused of evading $6,401 in taxes in 1950 and 1951. The federal action was the second against him. In 1953, he pleaded no defense to charges of embezzling funds of the bank and was placed on probation.

Richard J. Harkins, 61, Johnstown lawyer, was charged with failure to file tax returns for 1953 and 1954 although his gross income for the two-year period was in excess of $30,000. Government attorneys said the indictment against him was the result of the constant selective check maintained by the Internal Revenue service on persons who are self-employed.

Two Erie residents were indicted. Charles L. Stoeltzlev, 64, founder and former president of the Penn Union Electric Corp., was accused of evading taxes totaling $41,545 for the years 1950 through 1952. James G. Moyer, 32, was charged with claiming a fictitious daughter as a dependent and making false deduction of $1,386.

Ralph S. Rider, 47, and William H. Robison, 49, partners in an Altoona brick and masonry firm, were accused of evading taxes for the years 1950 through 1953. Rider was accused of owing $2,517 and Robison, $2,387.

weighed, and the ship pulled alongside the pier under her own power.

The liner had made preparations to take passengers off the ship onto ferry boats in the lower bay if weather conditions were unfavorable for the docking. If necessary the ship itself would have gone to Norfolk, Va., to unload heavy baggage and cargo and prepare for its return voyage.

Both the Queen Mary and the Queen Elizabeth, the only two larger commercial vessels afloat, have docked here without tugboat assistance during previous strikes, as have a number of smaller liners.

Among the passengers on the liner today was John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers Union, of which the tug crewmen were once a part. The tugmen left the International Longshoremen's Association to affiliate with the UMW's District 50 some years ago. They are affiliated with the National Maritime Union.

Township Group Elects Officers

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Warren H. Roberts, Girards Ford, Greene County, has been named president of the Pennsylvania State Association of Township Supervisors.

Other officers elected by 400 delegates at the annual convention of the association included:

Ralph Lindsey, Gibsonia, first vice president; Bruce Henry, Williamsport, second vice president; Dale Corbin, Reynoldsville, third vice president; H. A. Thomson, Upper Darby, secretary; William Delancey, Harrisburg, assistant secretary, Frank Peagley, Lancaster, treasurer, and Eugene Davis, Montgomery County, assistant treasurer.

Thomson will be serving his 30th term as secretary. He is said to be the only person who has ever visited every township in the state.

Next year's convention of the organization is scheduled for Philadelphia.

sation, labeling it a "lot of bunk."

Loughran, a former district attorney, claimed that McShane "forced" employes to purchase $5 tickets for "smoker" parties held on two different occasions at the New Park Dale Tavern, of Ruffsdale, which is owned by McShane. Loughran said the money from these parties was earmarked for his opponents' fund campaigns.

His opponents are District Attorney Alexander Sculco and incumbent Edward G. Bauer.

The latest tube production equipment that has been installed in the original plant will be transferred to the new plant when it is completed. The new equipment consists of a swaging machine, offset press, Pines tube-benders, automatic scarfing and butt-welding machines and panel racks.

McClain said that in the past five years additional improvements have been made in the original plant. Automatic gas firing and feed water equipment have been installed in the boiler room, which has resulted in more efficient and economic heating of the complete plant. Parking facilities in and around the building have been paved and drained. The office building has been renovated inside and air conditioning and new equipment installed.

Also included in current plans, the general manager stated, is the installation of a central sewage treatment plant, which will be required by law in 1957 for all manufacturing plants located on streams and rivers in the state. This will contribute, he said, to the conservation program being carried out in the state.

The Monongahela Division had its beginning in 1921 when the Coschocton Iron Co. was organized to manufacture cast iron axle boxes, pipe balls, and general castings. At the time of its inception, the company was located at Coschocton, O., hence its name. The move to the present site took place a year later. Here were erected two buildings, housing a foundry, machine shop and pattern shop, which comprised about 45,000 square feet.

Combustion Engineering was formed in 1914 and has been operating the division since.

The present operations of Combustion's Monongahela plant consist of the making of gray iron castings for practically every product the company manufactures.

This division, McClain said, makes all gray iron castings for stokers produced by the company, castings for boiler contracts such as access doors, drum supports, pulverized coal burners, including pulverized fuel line elbows and pipe of the many different sizes.

bases, gear housing, etc., for Raymond bowl, roller and impact mills. Thus, every manufacturing division of the firm is supplied by the Monongahela Division foundry.

In addition, the tube shop fabricates a large portion of boiler and furnace tube tonnage and the machine shop and assembly departments fabricate and build all stokers manufactured by the company. The plant pours about 35 tons of castings per day, McClain said.

The general manager said the plant is also planning to install a mechanical drafting department providing adequately trained personnel can be obtained. McClain said there is a dire need for experienced draftsmen.

The Monongahela Division has many plans for the future, McClain declared.

HERE'S HOW YOU CAN HELP YOUR NEWSPAPERBOY WIN IN THE THIRD ANNUAL

Good Luck Margarine Newspaperboy Contest

There are dozens of valuable prizes—including a

$1000 college scholarship!

(IN EACH CONTEST AREA)

All you do is save GOOD LUCK Margarine Clovers for the next 8 weeks and give them to your newspaperboy. Easy, isn't it? Yet by helping him, you're doing something important to you and your whole community!

Because here's a youngster who's got what it takes to make a good citizen. A sense of responsibility. A willingness to work for what he gets. He's the kind of boy we need. So let's give him a boost along the way. He'll appreciate your interest in him. And he and you both will profit by getting to know each other.

How to collect your GOOD LUCK Clovers. You'll see a big green Clover on the front of every package of GOOD LUCK Margarine. Cut it out. Give it to your newspaperboy. If you use family style GOOD LUCK, give him the whole wrapper. Give him as many as you can, because the more Clovers he gets, the bigger the prize he earns.

In addition to a college scholarship there are 51 other valuable prizes. But the contest lasts only 8 weeks, and that means he's got to work fast. So start saving your GOOD LUCK Clovers right away!

You and your family will love GOOD LUCK Margarine. GOOD LUCK is made fresher to taste fresher. In fact, GOOD LUCK Margarine tastes as fresh as "you-know-what."

Try GOOD LUCK at your home for a week. If you or your family can tell it from the expensive spread, Lever Brothers will pay you the price of a pound of GOOD LUCK.

$1000 College Scholarship for 600 Clover Winners

Any newspaperboy who collects 600 Clovers is eligible to compete for the College Scholarship in this contest area. He then writes an essay of 250 words or less. The writer of the best essay in each area is the final winner of a $1000 College Scholarship to the school of his choice.

In addition to a college scholarship, look at the terrific prizes you can help your newspaperboy win! Made by such famous names as:

Formal Hearings Opened Into Fatal Mine Blast

Services Held For Some of The 37 Victims

BISHOP, Va. (UP)—A formal hearing opens today (9 a.m., EST) into the explosion which killed 37 miners in the Pocahantas Fuel Co. mine here last Monday.

The investigation is in charge of West Virginia State Mine Chief Julius Olzer because the main entrance to the mine lies in West Virginia.

Olzer and a group of 20 federal and state mine officials and union and company representatives spent nine hours in the mine yesterday in their investigation of the explosion, the worst mine disaster in the country since 1951.

Funeral services for some of the victims were held yesterday. Others were to be held today and tomorrow.

The dead miners, 28 Virginians and nine West Virginians, were in the vicinity of the blast. The 140 other men in the mine at the time escaped unharmed.

The sprawling mine, one of the nation's largest producers, employs about 800 men and straddles the Virginia - West Virginia boundary.

William A. Fullarton, assistant to the company president, said production could not be resumed before Monday.

Agriculture to Donate Corn for Kentucky Stock

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Agriculture Department announced today it will donate government-owned corn for feeding livestock in nine southeastern Kentucky counties damaged by recent floods.

The federal feed grants will be available through Feb. 28 to farm families who have suffered flood damage and are temporarily unable to provide feed for their stock.

Counties selected for the grants are Breathitt, Perry, Harlan, Floyd, Pike, Letcher, Bell, Knox, and Leslie.

Officials said Kentucky state agencies will distribute the feed and pay distribution costs under arrangements to be made with Gov. A. B. Chandler. The state also will handle distribution of government food stocks for human beings.

The grants were made under a law authorizing the government to donate surplus farm products in major disaster areas designated by the President.

Corporal Hits Private Recruit

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UP)—The Marine Corps said today that a drill instructor at the San Diego Marine Recruit Depot has been reduced from corporal to private first class and transferred to other duties for hitting a recruit.

Marine officials said Pvt. Richard Rezendes, of Hayward, Calif., reported being struck in the stomach when he went to sick call Feb. 3. The 17-year-old private then was hospitalized for pneumonia and an investigation ordered into his charges.

A Marine Corps spokesman said the investigation revealed that Rezendes was hit once by Cpl. E. M. Logue, 21, of Atlantic, Iowa, during an oral examination Jan. 28.

Contract Awarded

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Veterans Administration today announced the award of a contract to Pittsburgh-Des Moines Steel Co., Pittsburgh, Pa., for construction of a 600,000-gallon elevated water storage tank at the Veterans Administration Hospital in Roanoke, Va. The contract is for $137,980.

Students in Marathon Viennese Jam Session

MADISON, Wis. (UP)—Haydn's had it, and so have a group of University of Wisconsin students who today completed a marathon 48-hour Viennese jam session.

The students, members of an amateur chamber music group, wanted to hear what all 83 compositions by 18th Century composer Joseph Haydn sounded like.

So Tuesday morning they sat down with their instruments to find out. Early today, their fingers calloused and painful, they fiddled their way through the last of the compositions.

The endurance session nearly bogged down several times due to lack of reinforcements.

Jeff Smith, a graduate student and one of the dozen musicians, complained they just didn't have enough personnel. But they plodded on, working with skeleton crews at times while the others slept.

"Due to a shortage of fiddlers, one of them had to play 10 and one-half hours without a break," Smith said.

"An elderly woman living in the downstairs apartment has been very kind . . . she says she can't hear us," he said. "Besides, there's a train which runs past here all the time and makes more noise than we do."

Naval Hero Is Honored by Carrier Mates

PENSACOLA, Fla. (UP)— The aircraft carrier Saipan berthed for military rites today for its storied skipper whose career ended in a Georgia plane crash two nights ago.

Memorial services were to be held on the Saipan's decks for Capt. William R. (Killer) Kane, 45-year-old veteran of 12 major engagements with the Japanese and, earlier, a Navy football great.

Kane died when his TV2 jet trainer crashed in an emergency landing attempt at Augusta, Ga., during a flight to Norfolk, Va., while his ship was on a routine training cruise in the Gulf of Mexico.

Kane was awarded the Navy Cross, two Distinguished Flying crosses, three presidential Unit Citations, a Navy Unit Citation, two Silver Stars and two Bronze Stars during World War II.

U. S., Poland In Secret Talks

WASHINGTON (UP) — The United States and Poland have been holding secret talks in Washington which apparently will lead to the start of formal negotiations on economic aid for Poland, it was learned today.

Polish Ambassador Romuald Spasowski conferred Wednesday with Deputy Undersecretary of State Robert Murphy in an unannounced meeting. The conference was arranged at Spasowski's request.

Neither the State Department nor the Polish Embassy would reveal the subject of their discussion. But authorities noted that the item uppermost in Poland's mind when it comes to relations with the United States is economic help.

Greensburg Bank Official on Bond

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Daniel Thomas Amend Jr., 41, Greensburg bank official accused of embezzling $13,500, was free on $500 bond today pending action by the federal grand jury.

Arraigned before U.S. commissioner Wednesday afternoon, Amend, assistant secretary-treasurer of the Barclay-Westmoreland Bank for 20 years, pleaded innocent to charges filed by the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Madrid Demonstration Broken Up by Police

MADRID, Spain (UP)— Police armed with truncheons today broke up a demonstration by Spanish students outside the old Downtown University Building. The demonstration coincided with a city-wide boycott of the transportation system.

After 500 students massed outside the building on San Bernardo St. shortly after noon and chanted: "Liberty!" "Barcelona!" Barcelona was the scene recently of a lengthy boycott of public transportation.

The demonstrators marched toward the main Gran Via but were intercepted at the juncture of the two streets by police who rushed to the scene in about a dozen jeeps.

Police closed off the streets and charged into the demonstrators, swinging their rubber truncheons.

The students fled. Eyewitnesses said none apparently was injured.

Before the arrival of police, the students stoned a bus that was traveling virtually empty along the Gran Via. Several windows were smashed but there was no injuries.

Observers said the swift police intervention was aimed at crushing demonstrations before they could get out of hand as happened last year.

The city-wide boycott of the transportation system was a silent protest against the rising cost of living.

Philadelphia Area Persons Charged In Canonsburg

PHILADELPHIA (UP) — A Bucks County motorist said today she had received an explanation from Burgess Fred A. Caruso of Canonsburg, Washington County, for a traffic ticket issued despite the fact she wasn't in Canonsburg the day she was cited.

"Somebody goofed," Caruso was quoted. "But it's an honest mistake. The numbers weren't picked out of thin air."

Four Bucks County motorists and one from Montgomery County turned summonses over to a motor club after they had been cited for traffic violations in the Western Pennsylvania county. All took affidavits they were not in Canonsburg.

Caruso was quoted as saying whoever looked up the numbers sent the summonses to the wrong persons. He said he'd look into it when the affidavits were returned.

"But," Caruso was quoted, "we have seven motorists here cited by Philadelphia for violations, and none was in the city at that time. Two were in hospitals. How do you account for that?"

Red Cross Drops Purchase of Home

WASHINGTON (UP) — The American Red Cross has abandoned plans to buy a $70,000 home for its president, Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, in the fashionable Spring Valley section of Washington.

The realty firm which developed the area, W. C. and A. N. Miller, had obtained a court injunction blocking the purchase. It said a covenant on purchases in the area limits sales to individuals and prohibits corporations from buying property.

Local Eagles Plan Initiation Here Sunday

Monessen Aerie of Fraternal Order of Eagles 2399 will hold class initiation for more than 100 new members on Sunday at 3 p. m. The Scottdale degree team will be present for the ceremony and the 14th anniversary of the local Aerie will be observed.

The class will honor the past secretary, Emil D. Timcoe and Mrs. Margaret Hupchick, outside guard for the State Auxiliary of the Eagles.

The guest speaker will be Past State President A. T. Williams, secretary to the Board of Trustees of the Grand Aerie F. O. E. He formerly served as trustee of the Foundation Memorial Fund.

Theodore Breuer, of Charleroi, state trustee, who is active in district work, will also speak.

Dinner will be served after the initiation and dancing will follow in the evening with music by the Crack Pots, who are now appearing at the Park Casino.

The local officers are in charge of plans for the day. They are Leo Dopler, past president; Joe Martz, president; Robert Huscroft, vice president; Andy Jotko, chaplain; John Malutish, conductor; Louis Boyd, guard; Francis Crum, George Delare and William Luoma, trustees; John Evans, secretary and Earl N. Chitester, treasurer.

Two Injured In Headon Crash

WASHINGTON, Pa. (UP)—Two men were injured Wednesday night when their automobiles collided headon on Route 19, one mile north of here.

State police said James Interval Jr., 21, assistant manager of a restaurant here, apparently fell asleep while driving. His car crossed the dividing line and collided with an auto driven by A. Boyd Siegel, 51, chairman of the board of directors of Washington's radio station, WJPA.

The two men, residents of the same block here, were reported in "fair" condition today at Washington Hospital.

Siegel suffered an arm fracture, possible fractures of the skull and several ribs, and head cuts. Interval suffered a head injury and shock.

Suspects In Bank Robbery

PITTSBURGH (UP)—City detectives still were questioning four suspects in the $39,000 robbery of a Hays district bank today more than 48 hours after the Pittsburgh men were picked up on a "tip."

Detective Superintendent Adam Geisler said there were still angles to be cleared up, but declared he was certain the suspects were the gunmen who looted the Hays branch of the Peoples First National Bank and Trust Co. Jan. 29.

Held were James T. Herron, 21, John R. Ward, 29, John McCann, 21, and John J. Williams, 23. Police said all have previous criminal records.

Another Sought

Lt. Paul Ryan, head of the robbery squad, said a fifth man, who may have driven the get-away automobile for the bandits, still was being sought. None of the loot has been recovered, according to reports.

Ryan refused to disclose the source of the tip which led to the arrests. The four men in custody were arraigned before Magistrate John J. Fiorucci Wednesday on charges of suspicion of armed robbery. They pleaded innocent.

The bandits forced six employes of the bank and two customers into the vault while they stuffed their loot into a wastebasket.

Brownell Asked To Investigate Seaboard Council

PHILADELPHIA (UP) — Rep. Earl Chudoff (D.-Pa.) disclosed Wednesday he had asked Attorney General Herbert Brownell Jr., to investigate the possibility of placing the Seaboard White Citizen's Council on the government's list of subversive organizations.

Chudoff, in a letter to the Attorney General's office, said he felt that if a proper investigation were made, the council "might be considered subversive enough" to be placed on the list.

Recently the congressman had asked the Justice Department to investigate reports that the Council had formed a Philadelphia chapter.

The council figured prominently in the fight against integration in public schools in the South.

John F. Kasper, Washington, its executive secretary, is under $10,000 bond pending an appeal of a violation of a federal court order against interference with integration in Tennessee.

Stock Market 'Whiz' Is Held for Thefts To 'Help' Victims

MIAMI (UP)—A "thrifty" young Pennsylvanian has admitted several sneak-thefts amounting to thousands of dollars so he could invest in the stock market and then return the profits to his victims, police reported today.

The 27-year-old stock market "whiz", identified as Michael Godula Jr., of Pittsburgh, was "discovered" earlier this week when officers investigated a traffic charge against him.

Detective John Heywood said officers found $10,000 in his apartment here which Godula admitted he "borrowed" from several food markets and stores without their knowledge so he could invest in stocks and bonds. Godula told Heywood he planned to return the money with a profit.

In fact, he said he did the same thing in Pittsburgh, McKeesport, Pa., and Los Angeles and returned the money with profits. Miami detectives said a check with authorities in those cities confirmed Godula's story.

"From what we've been able to learn," Heywood said, "he always comes out on top in the stock market. Then he brings his profits to the victims of his thefts."

Absolutely Brilliant

The detective described the youthful looking Godula as a "whiz . . . absolutely brilliant."

"He seems just like a nice kid . . . a little more intelligent than most, but a nice, well mannered young man," Detective Heywood said. "We're amazed at the knowledge he has about the stock market."

Heywood quoted Godula as saying the stock market was "hard work" but that with the proper system, "stocks are good investments."

"He just doesn't realize he's been stealing," Heywood said. "He calls it borrowing. If that kid had the right backing, he would make someone a fortune."

Heywood said Godula told police that he took the $10,000 in Florida from numerous places of business and planned to go to Pittsburgh, invest the money and then return to Florida to distribute the profits to his victims.

"Our check with Pittsburgh and McKeesport, Pa., police has shown that Godula has done this before," the detective said. "And he always returned the money with "interest."

Heywood said Godula was booked for his previous "investments" in California and Pennsylvania but had never actually served time for his offenses.

He was being held here in city jail until the investigation is completed. Then he will be charged, Heywood said. Officers are trying to determine how many business establishments "contributed" to the $10,000 fund in Godula's apartment.

Heywood said that for all Godulda's knowledge with stocks and bonds he is still thrifty with the dollar. When he appeared in court this week on the traffic charge, he refused to pay a $30 fine. He said it was "excessive" and walked out of court.

Big Oil Tanker For Soviet Fleet

LONDON (UP) — Radio Moscow said today a huge airconditioned oil tanker able to carry 25,000 tons, or more than ten trainloads, of fuel has been designed in Leningrad.

The ship will be the biggest tanker in the Soviet merchant fleet. It will be able to travel over 10,000 miles without calling at port, the broadcast said.

R. J. Linton Class Plans for Rummage Sale

A covered dish dinner preceded the Tuesday evening meeting of the R. J. Linton Class of the First Presbyterian Church in the church social rooms. Hostesses were Edythe Strenske, Mrs. Ewing Brown and Mrs. Ralph Lehew. All appointements were in a Valentine motif.

Mrs. Strenske offered the opening prayer and the group sang a hymn. Mrs. Grace Westcott and Mrs. Gelnn Lynn were the devotional leaders and the program theme was "Courage". Mrs. Westcott offered prayer and read the scripture lesson from Psalms. Mrs. Lynn read two articles, "Joan of Arc" and "Mark Twain".

Mrs. S. George Clarke sang a solo, "I Walked Today Along Country Road". She also gave a brief installation talk since the class has had the same officers for the past four years. Mrs. Clarke was in charge of a memorial for the late Mrs. Margaret Edwards.

During the business session a donation was voted to the March of Dimes. Plans were made for a rummage sale to be held on March 7 and 8 in the annex room next door to the church on Main street.

Cards were sent to ill members.

A committee was appointed to have charge of the entertainment and membership. It includes Mrs. Fred Shearer, chairman, Lois Gemmill, Mrs. Lynn, Mrs. Russell Hoffman, Mrs. Ada Todd and Mrs. Sadie Zollars.

Mrs. Melvin Lehew and Mrs. Fred Shearer will be the March hostesses. Mrs. Lehew will be rummage sale chairrman.

Girl Scouts Troop Plans Valentine Party

Girl Scouts of Troop 47 met on Monday in the Girl Scout Little House. Mary Daugherty was in charge of the opening ceremonies and the business session was conducted by Laura Chapman, president.

Dues were collected and plans were made for a Valentine party.

The meeting concluded with the friendship circle. Leaders, Mrs. Joseph Saitz and Mrs. James Naccarato were present.

Patriotic Order in Regular Meeting

The Patriotic Order of America met yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Bertha MacDonald, on Main street. The opening was by the acting chapiain, Lutritia Nutt.

Mrs. MacDonald was in charge of the business session. A grocery party was planned for the March 6 meeting.

Games were played during the social hour and winning prizes were Mrs. MacDonald, Mrs. Della Forsythe, Mrs. Mabel Yeaton, Lutritia Nutt, Mrs. Mary Chalfant, Mrs. Reba Robertson and Rhonda Cramer.

K of C Will Hear Bowling Expert

Belle Vernon Council Knights of Columbus will meet for the regular session on Thursday evening at 8 o'clock in the school rooms at St. Sebastian Church.

The guest speaker will be Joe Jannotta, of Monessen, who writes a column on bowling for The Daily Independent.

Civic Club Members Hold 'Gentlemen's Night' Here

Tuesday Evening Civic Club members had their husbands and friends as honored guests on Tuesday, when the annual Gentlemen's Night was held in the club room of the American Legion Home.

Mrs. Anthony Jedrziewski, president, extended the welcome and Mrs. George Wenick offered the opening prayer. There was a moment of silence for the late Mrs. Genevieve Silvestro, who was an active club member.

Mrs. John Thompson, membership chairman, introduced as new members, Mrs. William Fagan, Mrs. Irwin Lacy and Mrs. Joseph Brisbane. Each was presented with a corsage. One of the new members, Mrs. Dolores Yurkovich, was unable to be present.

Each of the club members introduced her guest. Mrs. Virginia Boyd was also a guest for the evening.

The president announced that Mrs. David Snyder, who is moving to Dunkirk, N. Y., has resigned the post of treasurer. The following committee was named to audit the books, Mrs. John E. Hurley, Ruth Springer and Ianthe Watson. The election of the nominating committee will take place Feb. 19.

An invitation was extended to the clubwomen to attend the card party and fashion show being sponsored by the Woman's Club at Twin Coaches on Feb. 20 at 1 o'clock.

Providing the musical interlude in the program were the Sutherland Sisters, Adele, Marion and Elaine, who presented vocal selections. Mrs. Mary Kampbell was the accompanist.

Mrs. Alex R. Newll, program chairman, introduced the guest speaker, Angus Douple, a member of the California State Teachers College faculty. He discussed "The Land of the Golden Pagodas" telling of a year spent in Burma, while he and his family traveled abroad. Slides illustrated the talk and there were many articles displayed by the speaker.

Luncheon was served following the program. Mrs. John Kinsey, Mrs. Guido Caputo, Mrs. James Young, Mrs. Homer Zuccont, Mrs. Goldberg, Ianthe Watson and Mrs. J. O. Clawson, Jr. were hostesses.

Edna Marston Class Meets at Corwin Home

A meeting of the Edna Marston Class of the First Baptist Church was held at the home of Mrs. E. J. Corwin, of Speer street, Tuesday evening.

Mrs. James Puz gave the opening prayer and the group sang, "What A Friend We Have in Jesus", the theme song of the class. Mrs. Harriet Neil was the devotional leaaer taking her scripture from Psalms. Poems were read by the class members and after the singing of "Precious Lord", Mrs. Bertha McClain offered prayer for the ill class members.

Plans were made for the next meeting to be held at the home of Mrs. Grace Boyce, of Market street, with Mrs. McClain as devotional leader. A country store will also be held at that time.

The social hour featured a covered dish dinner and Valentine appointments were used in the serving.

Girl Scouts in Tuesday Meeting

Members of Intermediate Girl Scout Troop 56 met in the social rooms of the Marion Presbyterian Church on Tuesday evening.

Patrol Two opened the meeting with a Bible verse, the pledge of allegiance and the Girl Scout Promise.

The craft period was devoted to making presents for the mothers of the girls.

Games were played and members of Patrol One conducted the closing.

Mrs. Della Berg, 331 First avenue, Belle Vernon, was admitted to the Charleroi-Monessen Hospital on Tuesday afternoon. Her room number is 257.

WILL RUN AGAIN — Mayor David A. Lawrence, of Pittsburgh, yesterday announced his candidacy for a fourth term. His statement said "the work of rebuilding Pittsburgh, to which I am intently dedicated, is really at its mid-point. I will be happy to do my full share in carrying out this great work."

What Happened To Files on 'Pike Inquiry

HARRISBURG (UP) — State Attorney General Thomas D. McBride today demanded an early "satisfactory explanation" of the misplacing of confidential files pertaining to a Dauphin County grand jury investigation of Pennsylvania Trunpike activities.

McBride said he will intervene personally unless a solution is found by Monday to the mystery of how the confidential document found its way into public files in the courthouse.

The file contained minutes of the deliberations of a special grand jury, whose recommendations resulted in indictments of 22 persons by a regular grand jury on criminal conspiracy charges in connection with an alleged multi-million dollar swindle of turnpike funds.

The top secret file somehow reached the desk of Harry Farina, clerk of Criminal Courts, after its transcription by a court reporter. After Farina had the document put in a public file it became accessible to attorneys representing the defendants.

Attorney Earl V. Compton, representing three of the indicted defendants, said that on the basis of information contained in the file he will challenge the legality of the special grand jury proceedings.

Families Leave to Live in Far East

Imperial Miner Killed by Auto

PITTSBURGH (UP) — An automobile struck and killed Ross Bowland 63, Imperial miner and part-time employe of Findlay Twp., Wednesday night as he walked along Rte. 978 in Imperial.

The driver of the car, Wilbert Ritchie, 41, also of Imperial, told police he failed to see Bowland walking on the highway because the victim was wearing dark clothing

WCTU Plans for February Meeting

Plans have been announced for the Feoruary meeting of the Belle Vernon Women's Christian Temperance Union, which will be held next Tuesday afternoon at 1:30 at the home of Mrs. L. G. Krepps, of Graham street.

There will be a business session and a temperance program.

Senate Group to Cite Union Officials

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Senate Government Operations Committee was expected to vote contempt of Congress citations today against four officials of the Teamsters Union, including its No. 2 man, for refusing to testify at an inquiry into racketeering.

Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark) called the committee to act on citations recommended by his Senate investigating subcommittee.

The suggested citations were against

Einar O. Mohn, a vice president of the huge union and executive assistant to general President Dave Beck at its headquarters here.

Frank W. Brewster, Seattle, Wash., president of the Western Conference of Teamsters and the union's Joint Council 28.

Nugent Lapoma, alias George Cavano, secretary-treasurer of Local 174, Seattle.

Harry Reiss, secretary-treasurer of Local 284, New York, linked in testimony last month with indicted hoodlum John Dioguardi, alias Johnny Dio.

Requires Senate Vote

If the committee approved the citations, they would go to the Senate for a vote. Final approval there would send them to the Justice Department for prosecution in Federal Court.

All four Teamster officials refused to answer questions of the investigating subcommittee last month. They also challenged its right to question them even about financial reports which the Teamsters, whose 1.4 million members make it the nation's largest union, filed with the Labor Department. The subcommittee has power to investigate government operations.

They did not invoke the Fifth Amendment. A series of other officers of Reiss' Local 284 did, however, pleading that their answers might incriminate them when they were asked about charges that they were asked about charges they embezzled union funds.

Withheld Financial Records

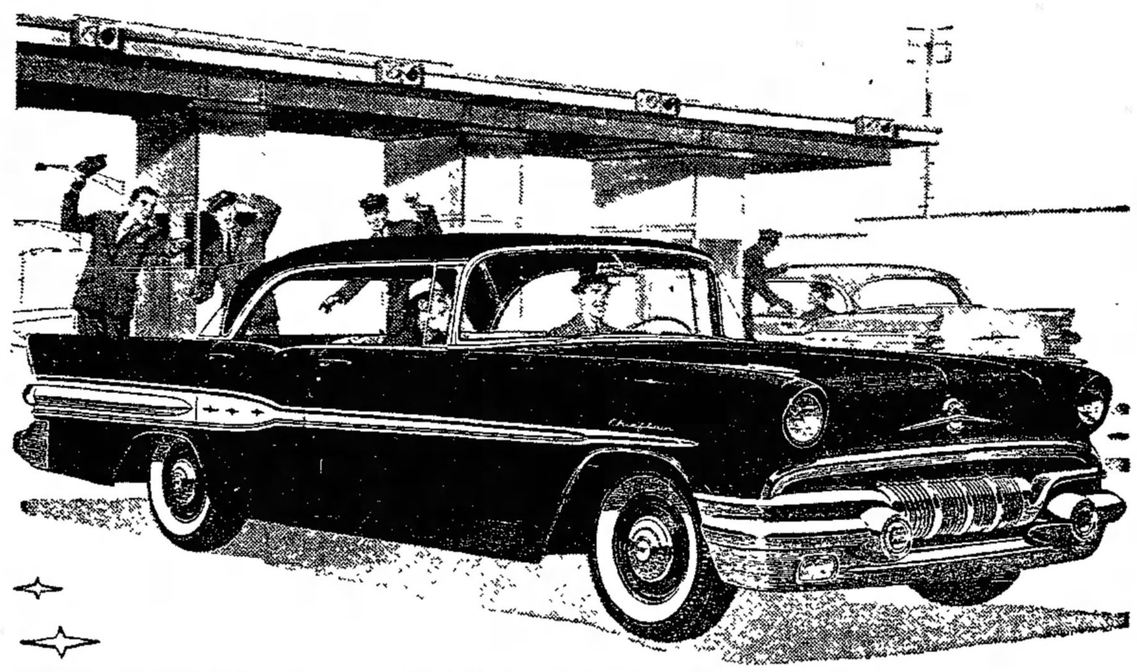
Brewster and Lapoma were also cited for refusal to produce, under subpena, finacial records of their units of the union.

The investigating subcommittee broke ground last month for a nationwide investigation of labor racketeering. A special Senate committee, which McClellan also heads, is now taking over the job with specific power to investigate racketeering.

In another development, Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill) proposed a bill requiring most employe welfare and pension benefit plans to register with the government and make financial reports to members.

Douglas headed a Senate Labor subcommittee investigation of the welfare funds in 1955. He said it turned up "shocking abuses such as embezzlement, collusion, kickbacks, exorbitant insurance charges ... mismanagement, lack of know-how, waste, extravagance, indifference (and) nepotism."

Here's the bomb
THAT BROKE THE
"low-price" lineup!



This big high-stepping Chieftain started a revolution with a carload of "firsts" and an eye-popping price tag!

The low-price field never looked like this before! The handsome husky you see right here has the boat still rocking ... with more power, more wheelbase, more room—and more sheer pride of ownership—than ever before possible on a well-trained budget! Just look at what they're making room for now in the low-price lineup: a strapping 347 cu. in., 10 to 1 compression ratio Strato-Streak V-8 ... a whopping, road-hugging 122 inches of wheelbase and an all-new suspension system for a Level-Line Ride that's next best thing to a magic carpet! And this streamlined beauty takes on the field with more than six dozen "firsts", all proved by 100,000 of the roughest, toughest test miles a group of facts-minded engineers could devise! If this sounds like a wonderful buy—it certainly is! Our advice is to stop dreaming and price it! At a cost less than a lot of the low-price jobs, this newcomer is making big-time buyers out of former "all-three" owners!

Women of Moose in Social Meeting Tuesday Evening

A social meeting was held on Tuesday evening by the Belle Vernon Women of the Moose in the lodge rooms. Senior Regent Naomi Brizzi was in charge and the opening prayer was by Chaplain Irene Steinmiller.

Junior Regent Thelma Smock led in the pledge and a new member, Minnie Crum, of Monessen, was welcomed into the chapter.

Routine business was discussed. Graduate Regent Thea Dominico presented the group with the Chapter Award of Achievement for 1955-56. She also read a letter of congratulations from the Grand Lodge by which the award was made.

The annual anniversary banquet will be Feb. 12, at Peasant Village. The women are to meet at the lodge at 6:15 and any member still wishing to make reservations will contact Ethel Turner. Thea Dominico, gift chairman, will be assisted by Margaret Hupchick and Louise Nichols.

Mrs. Brizzi thanked the women who attended the Mid-Winter Conference.

Ritual Chairman Ann Klawcho was in charge of the social and she was assisted by Elizabeth Marcinak, and Helen Yanko. The birthday cake was baked by Helen Henry and the birthday table was set by Ethel Turner. The birthdays of Alice Maylen, Margaret Hupchick and Margaret Coyle were observed and each received an individual birthday cake and a small gift. Luncheon was served and cards and games were played.

Door prize was won by Helen Henry and the guest prize by Minnie Crum. Other prizes went to Margaret Hupchick, Ethel Turner, Thea Dominico and Edith Thot.

A business session was set for Feb. 19 with executive session at 7 o'clock and business session at 7:30.

Loyal Women's Class Meeting Here Tuesday

Mrs. Bert Smith, of Speer street, was hostess to members of the Loyal Women's Class of the First Christian Church at her home on Tuesday evening. Mrs. Cora Mills was devotional leader.

The topic was "Prayer and the Home". The scripture was from Psalms and an article titled was read.

After the group recitation of the Lord's Prayer, Mrs. John Cadman, president, conducted the business session. A card was sent to Mrs. Millie Wilkinson, a member, who is ill.

Luncheon was served and the appointments were in a Valentine motif.

The next meeting will be at the home of Esther Mazza and Mrs Bert Smith will be the leader.

Your Health—

Psoriasis Incurable But Can Be Controlled

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

Usually along about this time of the year there is a sharp increase in the number of cases of psoriasis.

Psoriasis is one of the oldest known skin diseases.

While it is seldom, if ever, fatal and does not materially affect the physical health of the victim, it is unsightly and seems to be virtually incurable.

Some cases cause extreme itching. Moreover, the mental anguish it frequently brings, only serves to hamper treatment.

About 4,000,000 persons are suffering from psoriasis right now. Most victims are stricken between the ages of 15 and 35. Negroes seem to be relatively free from the disease and children seldom contract it.

There are various theories as to the cause.

The general belief is that a bacterial factor, coupled with a metabolic disturbance associated with fat metabolism, plays a part in the disease.

The small papules originally appear anywhere on the body, but usually on the arms, elbows, legs knees or the scalp. Fortunately, they don't interfere with growth of the hair.

The eruptions grow larger and then disappear. As the scales fall off the underlying skin is left discolored.

If you have psoriasis, you must realize that, with our present knowledge, it can't be cured. It can, however, be controlled.

You must also realize that emotional stress apparently plays a prominent role both in the original outbreak and recurrences. You've got to stop worrying about your trouble. Let your doctor worry for you.

Generally, a doctor will place a psoriasis patient on a low-fat diet eliminating such foods as greasy meats and soups, fatty cheese, oily nuts and chocolates.

I want to caution against self-medication since overtreatment will make the eruptions worse. Generally, though, exposure to natural sunshine in gradually increasing doses is at times helpful.

Perhaps your doctor also might advise bathing daily, using a mild soap and soft skin brush to scrub lesions gently to remove scales. If the scalp is affected, he might recommend shampoos three times a week. But do not try this without your doctor's advice.

Foreign Movie Favorites Big Hits in U. S.

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — How to combat the movie star shortage and also beat the dwindling U. S. movie business: Hire a foreign film favorite.

Germany's O.W. Fischer (stands for Otto Wilhelm) is the latest box-office success of Europe to be imported for a Hollywood picture by Universal-International Studio. Last year U-I signed Rossano Brazzi for a film.

Mike Todd outdid all the producers by using an international cast in "Around The World In 80 Days" to insure its box office success the world around—everybody from France's Fernandel to England's Noel Coward and Mexico's Cantinflas.

Foreign imports have a double advantage for Hollywood. For one thing, top stars are as scarce as snowballs in Hollywood because so few new luminaries have hit the top. Only a handful of graying actors and actresses control the top jobs, and good scripts go begging for lack of stars to play them.

Leech Farm Is Filled; Ban on New Patients

HARRISBURG (UP)—The state Health Department revealed today the Pittsburgh State Tuberculosis Hospital at Leech Farm, filled to capacity by admission of 55 patients within the last month, will admit only residents of Allegheny County "for the present."

Turned over to the state on Jan. 1, the hospital offers immediate hospitalization for tuberculosis patients, providing the isolation necessary to prevent the spread of the disease.

State Health Secretary Berwyn F. Mattison said that it is believed that in the future the entire capacity of the hospital will be required for the care of TB patients. He said an estimated 100 cases are in need of sanatorium care in Pittsburgh, with "many more" in Allegheny County.

He said tuberculosis patients in need of prompt hospitalization will be admitted to the Lawrence F. Flick State Hospital at Cresson.

EXPERTS PROBE WRECKAGE OF PACOIMA CRASH — Vince Donas, mechanic assigned by the Civil Aeronautics board, inspects the wreckage of the DC-7 in the Pacoima, Calif., school yard where it crashed after colliding with a jet.

Marine Brutality Is Charged

PARRIS ISLAND, S.C. (UP)—The Marine Corps today began a pre-trial investigation of reported brutality of drill instructors toward "several" recruits at this big training center.

Capt. James Mahoney, public information officer, said the "boots" do not claim they were struck by a "steel bar" as a father who touched off the investigation charged in a letter to Marine officials.

Nelson R. Porter of Hartford, Vt., who said his 18-year-old son wrote of being struck with the bar, left for Parris Island late Wednesday, saying his son pleaded in a letter for him to come "as soon as possible."

Porter said Maj. Gen. H. L. Litzenburg, commanding officer of the recruit center, admitted in a letter that the son, Pvt. David Lee Porter, had undergone brutal treatment.

No Pipe Used

Mahoney said that some six weeks of checking thus far revealed there had been other cases, but said the recruits "do not allege they were struck by a steel pipe — we have not found out just how they were struck."

Porter quoted one letter from his son dated Dec. 9 which stated:

"I walked into the drill instructor's office yesterday with my hat on. I got hit over the head twice with a steel bar. I would have got hit a third time, but there was already too much blood."

Porter said his son begged him not to try to intervene, saying "they will only make it rougher on me," but he nevertheless wrote to Litzenburg.

Mahoney said there was some delay in tracing the letter so the Marine Corps could reply, because it was unsigned. Porter explained later that he mailed an unsigned copy by mistake.

Mahoney said Lt. Col. Oscar F. Peatross, commanding officer of the First Recruit Training Battalion which included young Porter's platoon late Wednesday ordered an inquiry which will determine whether to call for court martial trials.

Be Careful Driving on Ice, Council Warns

Automobiles take twice the stopping distance on 30 degree ice than zero, the Western Pennsylvania Safety Council reminded drivers today. It added:

Temperature is the key to driving on icy highways.

"A small rise in temperature, heavy traffic, or a brief period of sunshine can warm the ice covered highway enough to make it wet and slippery in a few minutes."

The council asked motorists to check "the feel of the road" at every opportunity, especially after a stop of more than a few minutes. The council reported:

"The most effective way to prevent skidding on ice covered pavements is to use reinforced tire chains.

"Temperature changes have very little effect on braking distances on ice when tire chains are used.

"National Safety Council tests have repeatedly proved that reinforced chains provide the most reliable stop-go traction on ice and snow."

Drivers were urged to accept their responsibility for safe winter driving by continuing their safe bad weather driving habits. It reported:

"The safe, courteous driver knows that to protect his own life and the lives of others he must adjust to road and weather conditions.

"He slows down when ice or snow makes the roads dangerous and follows at a safe distance.

"Remember, you can't blame the weatherman for an accident."

Harry H. Brainerd, executive manager of the council, warned that winter is a long way from being over, regardless of the recent warm spells. He added:

"You can expect a lot more bad driving weather with icy highways before spring."

New Latrobe Squire

HARRISBURG (UP) — Gov. George M. Leader has asked state Senate confirmation of his appointment of William J. Mitchell, of Latrobe, as justice of the peace for that Westmoreland County borough, replacing Robert E. Householder, who resigned. The appointment would expire January, 1958.

Union Flareup Disrupts Harmony

MIAMI BEACH (UP)— A late flareup between the Sheetmetal Workers Union and the International Union of Electricians disrupted the harmony of the AFL-CIO Executive Council's mid-winter conference.

At the final session of the 10-day conference Wednesday, the council approved a subcommittee report which upheld the sheetmetal workers' claim that the IUE was violating a no-raid agreement at the Belock Instrument Co., in College Point, N.Y.

The IUE had charged that the contract between the company and the sheetmetal workers was "collusive." The council agreed to review this accusation at a later date.

The Executive Council ended its session with plans to end other strife over jurisdiction within the big federation.

A three-man subcommittee of the council will meet in Akron, Ohio, Feb. 18 to try and work out the feud between the sheetmetal workers and the United Steelworkers Union at the Burt Manufacturing Co.

The Sheetmetal Workers Union has boycotted products of the plant on grounds that many employes should be under the jurisdiction of the sheetmetal union.

Another committee will meet in Washington with AFL-CIO President George Meany during the week of Feb. 25 to try to work out a formula for settling the feud between craft unions and industrial unions within the merged labor organization.

The council at its final session approved an all-out campaign to organize some 14 million white collar workers in the nation who are not union members at present.

Army Will Draft 13,000 in April

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Defense Department announced today that the Army will draft 13,000 men in April.

The April call will bring to 2,193.30 the number of men drafted since the Korean war started.

The Army is drafting 14,000 men this month and the same number in March. It called 17,000 in January.

City Manager Bill Again Presented in State House

A perennial bill urging the adoption of the city manager plan for third class cities has again been introduced in the State House of Representatives.

Ralph J. Down, a Republican assemblyman from Mercer County, proposed the bill, which was given the number HB65.

It would authorize cities of the third class to adopt the city manager plan of government; providing for referendums; providing for the conduct of city government thereunder and conferring powers and imposing duties on city and county officials.

The bill was referred to the committee on third class cities.

In other action in the House and Senate, in which persons from this district are interested, the following bills have been introduced:

SB77 — Make it the duty of every authority to submit to the municipality which incorporated it or for which it was incorporated quarterly reports containing the names of its employes, their positions and salaries. Introduced by Fleming (R), Allegheny; Whalley (R), Bedford; Harney (R), Chester and Dent (D), Westmoreland. Referred to committee on state government.

HB160 — Would amend Third Class City Law of 1931, as amended, to require city council to provide for an annual audit of all accountants by an independent CPA. Wood (R), Lancaster; Wescott (R), Susqehanna; Wheeler (D), Fayette; Hamilton (D), Beaver. Referred to committee on third class citieis.

HB234 — Increasing pay of election officers in third to eighth class counties. Mills (D), Westmoreland and Wheeler (D), Fayette H241 — Providing for the issuance of temporary vehicle registration plates for aldermen, magisirates and justices of the peace. Mills (D), Westmoreland and Jim (D), Westmoreland.

Mills and Wheeler also introduced House Bill 235 which seeks to prohibit the coloring or dyeing of chickens, ducks or rabbits, along with the sale of these colored animals.

Leader Praised For Steps in Social Welfare

PHILADELPHIA (UP) — Gov. George M. Leader was commended Tuesday by the president of the Pennsylvania United Fund for his efforts to recruit competent people for state social welfare positions.

Vivian P. Edwards Jr., of Dalton, in a letter to the governor, said the Fund was "especially encouraged by the number of positions in the field of social welfare which have been included under the merit system by your executive order."

"Offering job stability should enable the state to receuit competent people who can do the kind of job that must be done in this field," Edwards added.

Edwards said he hoped the legislature will join with Leader in passing "the necessary measure to insure that this action will become permanent."

The Pennsylvania United Fund is a voluntary statewide organization which works with local Community Chests and United Funds.

PUC Asked for Rate Increase

HARRISBURG (UP)—The Seneca Water Co. has asked Public Utility Commission approval for an estimated $5.000 annual rate increase for its 331 subscribers in the Seneca area of Venango County.

The firm said the increase is needed to provide revenue to meet "a substantial increase" in the cost of water it buys from Oil City.

The new rates were filed to become effective April 1.

Townships Gain Considerable by Home Rule Bill

HARRISBURG (UP) — State Highways Secretary Joseph J. Lawler said today a greater share in the Motor License Fund provided by the Home Rule Bill has resulted in "a substantial gain" in highway construction by second class townships.

Reviewing reports of construction in 1956, Lawler said that although the increased allocation covered only the latter half of the year construction increased from 2,254 miles in 1955 to 2,397 miles in 1956.

The first allocations on the Home Rule basis, raising funds granted to municipalities from $18,000,000 to $30,000,000 annually, were made in July last year. Lawler said the second payment, made in December, could not be used for construction in mid-winter and therefore, coupled with the 1957 payments due in April and October, should provide a large improvement program in all of the municipalities.

Asks Repeal of State Sales Tax

HARRISBURG (UP)—State Sen. Joseph J. Yosko (D-Northampton) today introduced a bill to repeal the state sales and use tax and said he would propose another source of revenue if it is passed.

Yosko said there were "certain senators" in favor of the repeal, but he said "the strongest support in favor of repealing it is from the people."

He said a new tax "based on the ability to pay" must be devised. A good proportion of the sales tax, he said, is not reaching the state treasury due to the complexity of the law and the collection methods of the tax.

Urges Change in Constitution

PITTSBURGH (UP)—The Pennsylvania Association of Township Supervisors today urged that the state constitution be amended to boost the borrowing capacity of townships.

The resolution said the present limit on borrowing "is preventing the carrying on of many major improvements except by using the expensive evasion of the constitution known as a municipal authority."

The supervisors also called on the Joint State Government Commission of the legislature to make a thorough study of the problem of tax exempt property. A resolution said the volume of such property is increasing and "there is no accurate knowledge of the extent of this problem, where it is located, nor what its solution might be."

In other resolutions, the supervisors asked:

Separate allocation of motor license funds apportioned on need for reconstruction and construction of bridges on township roads.

An overhauling of the state Motor Vehicle Code.

A change in annexation laws to provide for a vote of the entire township upon annexation of any part of it.

The resolutions were adopted at the closing session of the 35th an-

Coming to Terms With Realities

THE BUDGET which Gov. George M. Leader presented to the State Assembly on Tuesday seems to represent a sincere effort on the part of the Governor to come to reasonable terms both with the realities of the political situation in Pennsylvania and with the growing money requirements of the state government.

Governor Leader, it needs to be remembered, is now even less of a free agent than he was when his term began two years ago. Now, instead of having only the Senate controlled by the opposition Republican party, both houses of the Assembly are GOP-controlled.

Moreover, when it comes to making a budget, the Governor is faced with large and still growing commitments previously made by the legislature and about which he can do nothing even if he were disposed to do something.

So it is accurate to say, we think, that what Mr. Leader has done in his budget proposals is to total these irreducible commitments, add to them some fairly conservative new programs, such as those for mental health and industrial development, and send the package along to the Assembly. This is over-simplifying the process a bit, but substantially it is about what took place.

ON THE REVENUE side of the ledger, Governor Leader indicates his willingness now to accept the general sales tax as a fixture as previously recommended by his bi-partisan Tax Advisory Committee. This means that the long and frustrating battle about methods of taxation which marked the last session of the Assembly is not to be repeated. And for that we suspect most citizens will be thankful.

The Republican leaders of the Assembly are talking — only in very general terms at this point — of going to work with an axe on the Governor's budget. State Chairman George I. Bloom calls it a "free spending" budget which can be sharply reduced by the legislature.

We hope such an effort is made, not in any spirit of embarrassing the Democratic administration but because the taxpayers of Pennsylvania are entitled to know whether this huge budget, which will come to $2 billion when all the estimates are in, is justified in all of its particulars.

Here is a place, it would seem, where the two-party system can be made to function effectively in the public interest. If a Democratic Governor and a Republican legislature can check and double-check the money requirements of the state government, making each item of expenditure justify itself, the people will be well served.

'Open to the Public'

IN A TEST cast arising out of an action by the McKeesport Parking Authority, Judge Henry X. O'Brien, of Allegheny County common pleas court, has handed down an opinion which, assuming it is sustained in higher state courts, should do much to keep the actions of authorities in the public view where they belong.

Because the McKeesport Authority's business was conducted in a meeting which was not properly "open to the public", Judge O'Brien has stopped the development of a public parking lot. He has said in effect that, while the Authority has the power to do what it did, it must exercise that power only in open meetings, scheduled at regular times and places and of which the public and the press have continuing notice.

Many authorities, of course, do transact their business only in open meetings for this is the clear intent of the law.

But many others have preferred to operate in virtual secrecy, apparently with the tacit if not expressed approval of their legal advisers. And in numerous instances newspapers have experienced difficulty in reporting the actions of authorities to the public simply because they have not been able to penetrate this secrecy. Apparently this was the case with the McKeesport Parking Authority.

Members of all authorities and their counsel should take immediate notice of Judge O'Brien's decision. And even though some may be reluctant, for reasons which they consider good, to do business in the open, all should realize that this is the only way the public's business should ever be conducted.

Spare the Cinders

WITHOUT wishing to seem ungrateful for a municipal service which is mighty helpful and necessary at times, we still wonder if Monessen's street crews do not overdo the cindering program a bit during the winter months.

Quite often cinders are distributed profusely, even on relatively little-used side streets, when it is fairly obvious that traffic is not going to be impeded very seriously or very long. And the cinders keep piling up throughout the winter until the nuisance is at least equal to the infrequent inconvenience of slippery streets.

This is a costly service and one which we think might be used a trifle more sparingly without serious results.

Merry-Go-Round—

Government Tax Deals Baffling

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — If ex-heavyweight boxing champ Joe Louis should make a million dollars a year he probably could not pay the government all his back taxes before he dies.

This is because Joe didn't realize how big his tax bracket was when money came easy, got behind in his payments, and the government is now charging him interest at the rate of nearly $100,000 a year. If he made a million dollars a year, his annual income tax would be $910,000, and he would be able to pay the government only $90,000 on his back taxes — less than the annual bill for interest.

Mr. Pearson

Joe has taken up wrestling lately, and in the past three months has paid the government $124,000. However, the Treasury recently attached a $65,000 trust fund Joe left his children, and he still has a balance of $1,119,437 to pay involving principal, penalty, and interest.

Joe's lawyers say they have discussed a settlement with the government, but so far have had little encouragement. Meanwhile, ex-heavyweight champ Jack Dempsey, who is now running a restaurant, has started a fund, along with John Youngheim and George Reeves, Jr., of Chicago, to help Louis with his huge tax debt.

Interesting question about the Joe Louis tax case is what yardstick the Treasury uses to compromise a tax case. To answer the question, this column scrutinized some of the tax settlements on record in the Treasury and came away more puzzled than ever. It seemed to depend in part on what lawyer or accountant you hired.

How Are Taxes Settled?

For instance, the American Distilling Co. owed the Treasury $13,000,000. It settled for a little over $1,000,000 or 10 cents on the dollar. It hired the accounting firm of T. Coleman Andrews, who later became Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

Here are some other tax cases recently settled:

Jack Berk, who, with his wife, Anne, ran the Vicmore Belt Co in Flushing, N. Y., owed the Treasury $127,879, settled for $11,000. He presented a doctor's certificate that he had a heart condition and the Treasury let him off with less than 10 cents on the dollar.

Newman's Lake House, Saratoga Springs, N. Y., owed $152,605.69 and made a compromise payment of $20,000, of which $2,000 was a down payment, with $3,600 paid annually in five installments at 6 per cent interest. The restaurant is owned by Mrs. Catherine King and her father, John J. King, Sr. The settlement was made because New York State refused to renew the restaurant's liquor license. It went heavily in debt.

Another case was that of ex-Congressman Parnell Thomas, of New Jersey, who served time for taking salary kickbacks. He owes $21,362, has a net worth of $11,200, and offered to compromise for $100. The Treasury refused, finally agreed to take payments from Thomas of all his income over $5,000 a year through the year 1961.

More FCC Politics

More of the Federal Communications' political chickens are coming home to roost. On top of the commissioners' reversal of their examiner in the Boston Herald and Traveler case, they are now in hot water in Jacksonville, Fla.

There, the FCC politicos who decide who shall get the multi-million-dollar television permits, reversed their own examiner and awarded a channel to the Florida-Georgia TV Co. The FCC examiner had ruled in favor of the Jacksonville Broadcasting Co., but, after politics were pulled, the FCC reversed the non-political expert who spent weeks listening to the testimony and deciding which applicant was best qualified to do a public-service job for the people of Jacksonville.

After making the award to the Florida-Georgea TV Co., it's now revealed that one of the chief promoters of that company, Harold Cohn, was formerly associated with the old Capone gang in the Florida dog tracks. This was not disclosed by Cohn, who owns 19 per cent of the station and who is required under FCC rules to disclose his record.

The Jacksonville Broadcasting Co. has now filed an affidavit showing that Cohn was a "chart writer" with the Jacksonville Kennel Club and the Orange Park Kennel Club, largely owned by Bill Johnston of Chicago, exposed during the Kefauver crime investigation as an associate of underworld hoodlums. Another owner of the dog tracks was John Patton, Chicago gangster and former associate of Frank "The Enforcer" Nitti.

So much evidence of politics is piling up against the FCC that a major congressional investigation is almost certain to result.

Today and Tomorrow—

Federal Aid for Schools

By WALTER LIPPMANN

In our own home affairs the President has given top priority to the proposal that Congress grant federal aid to states in order to build public schools. The case for this federal aid rests on the hard fact that since the war the number of children ready for schools has grown much faster than has the construction of school rooms in which to teach them.

Mr. Lippmann

This year the enrollment in our schools exceeds their normal capacity by more than two million children. This means over-crowding in the class rooms to the point where great numbers of children are being denied a decent education. This denial is in the true sense of the term an emergency. For when a child misses an education, the loss cannot be repaired easily later on. Children who do not receive a decent education when they are of school age are almost certain to go through life without having had a decent education.

Communities Trying

The critical shortage in class rooms cannot fairly be attributed to a failure of the states and localities to meet their responsibilities. Here and there no doubt there are such failures. But the total effort made by the states and localities is impressive. During the past year they have built 63,000 new class rooms. This is a record, particularly when compared with ten years ago when the rate of construction was 9,000 annually.

Yet this large number will not be enough even to replace class rooms that have become obsolete and unusable and to provide for the new enrollments, which are increasing each year. Just to stand still where we are, there are needed all the class rooms that have been built this year. In the meantime, against the total efforts of the local authorities, there is a backlog deficit of 150,000 class rooms.

In a recent publication of the Department of Commerce, it was estimated that for school construction four billion dollars would be needed annually for the next ten years. This would mean that the rate of expenditure would have to rise 60 per cent over the current level, which is $2.6 billions. This increase would be a rise of $1.4 billions a year. The President is asking the federal government to contribute less than one-quarter of this amount annually, hoping that by compelling the states to match the federal grants, the whole need can be met. The administration offer to set up a fund of $750 millions, to purchase school bonds does not relieve the states and local communities from raising most of the money to pay for the new schools. It is only a loan designed to protect them against having to pay very high interest rates.

Need Exists — Ike

"The need," said the President in his message last week, "for federal assistance in eliminating this shortage is not theory, but demonstrated fact. It cannot now be said — realistically — that the states and communities will meet the need. The class room shortage has been apparent for a number of years, and the states and communities have notably increased their school building efforts. Each year, for several years, they have set a new record in school coonstruction. And yet in the face of a vast expansion in enrollments each year, many areas are making inadequate progress in reducing the shortage."

Yet the President's proposals face formidable obstacles in Congress. There are those who on the principle of state's rights object to any federal action in relation to the public schools. There are Catholic taxpayers who feel that parochial schools should not be excluded from federal aid. There are the Negro politicians, led by Representative Powell of New York, who wish to have federal aid used as a means of coercing the Southern states to eliminate segregation. And last, but by no means least, there will be all those who, looking for ways to carry out Secretary Humphrey's injunction to cut expenditures, will be tempted to begin with federal aid for the schools.

It is often asserted that all the subsidies and grants which appear in the federal budget are there because of the special interest of pressure groups. There is, of course, some truth in this. But as a generalized rule, it is untrue and grossly unfair. In the case of federal aid for schools, it is truer and fairer to say that the opposition comes from pressure groups, whereas the support is truly national and public spirited. There is no special interest which is going to be favored specially by the adoption of these proposals. The demand for them comes from teachers and from school superintendents, from parents and from civic leaders who are worrying about our failure to provide a large part of the coming generation with adequate schooling.

Indeed the support of education — by the localities, the states, and the federal government — is like the support of the national defense. It is a public and patriotic duty which this generation owes to the next. Can we afford to support American education? The answer is that we cannot afford not to support it. Do we have the money to support it? Well, in the past 25 years the national income has risen $300 billion while the amount we spend on education has increased by little more than seven or eight billions.

The truth is that it is absurd to say that the richest country in the history of mankind cannot afford both to defend itself and to educate its children.

West Germany Enters New Critical Period

By CHARLES M. McCANN

West Germany is entering a critical period which seems certain to last for many months.

The danger of revolt in East Germany, the threatened withdrawal of Allied troops assigned to the North Atlantic Treaty forces and the pace of Germany's own rearmament are among the problems to be faced.

In addition, there is a serious threat that Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, who comes close to being an indispensable man from the Allied viewpoint, may be overthrown in the election to be held next September.

The East German situation is the most dangerous one at this time.

Statements by East German Communist leaders leave no doubt that they fear a popular uprising like those in Poland and Hungary.

Rebel Fight Feared

West German leaders, in turn, fear that their own people might cross the border to fight with the rebels.

They would be fighting the Russian Red army as well as the East German armed forces. What Russia might do then can only be guessed at. The United States and the other Allies are pledged to defend West Germany.

There is little doubt that British Prime Minister Harold MacMillan intends to pull two of the four British NATO divisions out of West Germany as part of his drastic economy program.

American military commanders in West Germany are already figuring out how to trim their units in line with administration plans to put more emphasis on striking power instead of manpower.

Action Opposite Of Allies

This leaves Adenauer trying to carry out the unpopular West German rearmament program, and drafting men for the armed forces, while his Allies are reducing their military strength.

United Press dispatches from Bonn, the West German capital, say the threat that Adenauer may be overthrown in the September election is quite serious.

Adenauer's Christian Democratic party has lost strength in recent local elections. The Socialist Party, the principal opposition group, has gained correspondingly

If the election is close, the Free Democrats, who used to belong to Adenauer's coalition, may hold the balance of power. They probably would join the Socialists to overthrow Adenauer.

The Socialists oppose rearmament. They have announced that if they get into office they will abolish the draft.

Guarantee Security Asked

Erich Ollenhauer, the Socialist leader, says he wants a unified Germany to be included in a "European security system" which would be guaranteed by both the United States and Soviet Russia. To this end, he says, he would be willing to surrender west Germany's membership in NATO.

The East German Communists opened a pre-election propaganda campaign against Adenauer last week-end. Like the Russians, they hold out the promise that German unification would be possible if Adenauer were thrown out.

President Theodor Heuss of West Germany is to visit President Eisenhower in Washington March 6. But like some other West European presidents he is a figurehead. Adenauer is head man. It is pretty certain that he, too, will go to Washington within the next few weeks to talk over the situation.

An Old Car Requires A Proficient Driver

By MARGARET LATROBE

Exchanging a nod with a state highway patrol officer, it occurred to me that these are the pleasantest people you meet on the road. For good manners and courtesy, the public can't touch them. Their general personality pattern — alertness, confidence, goodwill — is one that extends to highway officers across the country in states I've driven through. Which is 40.

Mrs. Latrobe

The only real officer I ever encountered was one issuing drivers' licenses in a seashore village. This fellow made you want to offer him a bicarb — and then run. He made it plain that most people ought to be in jail, and those who weren't ought not be allowed behind the wheel of a car.

And of those who insisted on driving, none but owners of the biggest and best cars were to bother him about licenses. Our proud beauty, called Arabella, was in a state of shabby gentility. She had cost us $25 which we could ill afford, what with the summer cottage rent and all. Once a phaeton that brought admiring glances, she is now arithritic and, I fear, alcoholic. Drank by the buckets, she did — a point which did not escape the irate officer about to climb aboard for proof of our driving ability.

What Arabella lacked by way of speedometer, lights and other frills, she made up in good brakes, willing heart and joie de vivre. The new mop bought to tidy up our humble cottage, had poked a segment from Arabella's once bright top. She didn't care.

The officer gave her a look — part contempt, part disbelief — and flung himself on the front seat. The door came off in his hand. It began to rain, but Arabella sprang onto the muddy track like the thoroughbred she was, trembling with customary agues, as the showers belted down on the angry cop.

The rain was a bit of luck, really. That was all that kept the officer from noticing that neither speedometer nor any other part of the dashboard was working. Faster, faster we sped down the test course, while the officer applied every means to stay put.

The only way to tell when the ride was over was observing that the scenery had stopped moving. Arabella rattled and swayed, stationary or not.

The officer got out, mopping rain from his brow. "Okay, lady," he snarled. "Here's your license. If you can drive this heap, you can drive anything!"

WASHINGTON: House Republican Leader Joseph W. Martin predicting the Democrat's "baby soil bank" bill would be passed without waiting for President Eisenhower's recommendation on drought legislation:

"Nobody wants to vote against drought relief because everybody is for it."

GROTON, Conn.: Comdr. Eugene P. Wilkinson, skipper of the nuclear-powered namesake of Jules Verne's fictional submarine, the Nautilus, telling his crew that their sub was about to fulfill the title of Verne's book, "20,000 Leagues Under The Sea":

"In a few minutes we will witness a feat that has been unknown to man except in the world of fiction — this ship, our Natuilus, will log her 20,000th league."

Holiday Luncheon For Clubwomen

A holiday luncheon highlighted the February meeting of the Monessen Woman's Club yesterday afternoon at 1 o'clock in the gymnasium of the First Methodist Church.

A buffet table was arranged for the serving and the luncheon tables were appointed in a Valentine motif. Silver candelabra held tall lighted tapers and miniature red hearts were tied to white branches to form the table centers.

The business session was conducted by Mrs. Albert W. Snyder, vice president, in the absence of Mrs. Richard M. Bow, president.

Donations of materials and hose were brought in by the club members for Psychiatric Hospital in Pittsburgh.

The next meeting, March 6, will feature a trip to Pittsburgh, plans for which will be announced.

Entertainment for the afternoon was under the direction of Mrs. Rip Menefee, who arranged for group games of anagrams and "memory lane".

Winning the anagram prizes were Mrs. Russell Dial, Mrs. Snyder, Mrs. John P. Regan, Jr., Mrs. Perce Johnson, Mrs. John Hart, Mrs. R. O. Stephens, Mrs. Robert McKelvie, Mrs. Arlington Johnston and Mrs. W. O. Beery.

Winning the "memory lane" awards were Mrs. James Hutchison and Mrs. William Lamey.

Hostesses for the social affair were Mrs. Harry R. Pore, Jr., Mrs. Lily Anderson, Mrs. Charles Darby, Mrs. Charles Dow, Mrs. Harry C. Gribben, Mrs. Charles Williams, Jr., Mrs. Charles Whitehouse, Mrs. Denver Rhome, Bessie Preston and Mrs. Nicholas Polkabla.

Claire Trussell

Color Program Presented for Evening Club.

Claire Trussell, senior staff aid of the Bell Telephone Co. was guest speaker last night at a meeting of the Evening Women's Club held in the parlors of the First Methodist Church.

Miss Trussell pointed out the influence of color on everyday living at the present time and stressed the need of the American public to express itself colorfully.

She discussed color from the viewpoint of the physicist, who sees color in light; the chemist, who produces color from the pigments of the earth and the physiologist, who deals with the emotional reaction to color.

Miss Trussell then pointed out the use of color in the telephone business, the matching color connections in the cable and the telephone wire that rings the world like an electronic rainbow. Charts and slides illustrated the talk.

Mrs. Julia Furio, program chairman, introduced the guest speaker and Olive Pannabaker, president, conducted the short business session. The next three meetings of the club were set for the Civic Center.

Hostesses were Mildred Shrading, Lillian Kurey, Dorothy Skekel, Esther Rhoades and Katherine Stockus.

District Airman and Bride Now at Home in Germany

A/2/C Harry Brown and his bride are now living in Weisbaden, Germany, following their late December marriage. The bridegroom is in service with the U. S. Air Force.

Before her marriage Mrs. Brown was Sarah C. Bergman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bergman, of Belle Vernon R. D. 1. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brown of New Eagle.

The couple exchanged nuptial vows in the Monongahela Church of the Nazarene on Dec. 26, 1956, at 6:30 in the evening before an altar arranged with gladiolus, chrysanthemums, poinsettias and ferns. Tall lighted tapers furnished the only illumination.

Nuptial Music

The church pastor, the Rev. Paul Andree, read the lines of the double ring ceremony. Christena Johnston was the organist and Gordon Rutherford was the vocalist. He sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "Whither Thou Goest".

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a floor length gown of white nylon net and Chantilily lace styled with a fitted lace bodice and long sleeves ending in points at the wrist. Her fingertip veil was held in place by a crown of seed pearls and sequins and she carried a white Bible topped with an orchid.

Maid of honor was Darla Smith, who wore a dark green gown and carried a bouquet of yellow roses.

Bonnie Brown and Lois Adams, who served as bridesmaids wore gowns of gold styled identically to that worn by the maid of honor. Their bouquets were of yellow roses.

Best man was Leonard Williams and ushers were Jack and Bill Brown.

The mother of the bride chose to wear an off-white dress with pale blue and black accessories and her corsage was of pink rosebuds. The bridegroom's mother selected a pink suit with accessories of pink and white. Her corsage was also of pink rosebuds.

Hold Reception

A reception for about 40 relatives and friends was held at Peasant Village. The bride's table was centered with a three tiered wedding cake decorated with pink roses and topped with a miniature bridal couple.

Guests were present from Coverdale, Belle Vernon, Donora and Monongahela.

A brown suit of jersey with matching accessories was chosen by the bride to wear when the couple left for a wedding trip.

The bride was graduated from Rostraver High School with the class of 1956 and before her marriage she was employed by Magura Clothing Co. in Monessen. Her husband was graduated in 1954 from Monongahela High School and enlisted in the Air Force in August of that year.

Egg Recipes in Demand During Month of March

March has been proclaimed as Egg Month. April has lost its championship which it has held for so many years. Formerly, the hens waited until there were signs of spring to supply us aplenty. With modern methods of poultry care, chickens are no longer exposed to the elements.

Edith Barber

Not only has production increased, but there are more large eggs available. In some markets, you may take your choice among white or brown eggs, according to your taste, or, perhaps, this could be called prejudice. In some sections of the country, white eggs are considered the best, and in others, the brown eggs are believed to be richer in flavor. Actually, one is as good as another.

Perhaps I am slightly prejudiced myself, as it always seems to me that the eggs have a finer flavor just now than any other time of the year. This is probably a left-over opinion from the time when during much of the winter we had to depend upon cold storage eggs for our supply.

The storage eggs were difficult to poach, so it was, as spring advanced, that we used this method of preparation. Eggs poached in butter rather than water remain among my favorite egg dishes.

Speaking of eggs, there have been several requests for the cheese souffle topping used with the lobster and shrimp souffle on that famous Borge-Philippe dinner described recently.

Requested Recipe:

CHEESE SOUFFLE WALDORF

½ cup butter, melted
1 cup flour
2 cups milk, hot
½ teaspoon salt
Pepper
Nutmeg
5 egg yolks, beaten
1 cup grated Parmesan or Swiss cheese
5 egg whites, stiffly beaten

Blend melted butter and flour over low heat until golden brown. Add hot milk and stir over low heat until sauce thickens. Season with salt, pepper and nutmeg. Beat in egg yolks quickly and continue stirring over low heat until hot. Remove from heat and add grated cheese. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites and pour into 2-quart casserole. Bake in hot oven (450 degrees F.) for 20 minutes. Yield: 6 servings.

CHECKERED EGG SANDWICHES

6 hard-cooked eggs, finely chopped
3 tablespoons drained pickle relish
½ cup diced celery
¼ cup minced parsley
1-3 cup mayonnaise
¾ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
½ teaspoon mustard
18 slices bread
Melted butter or margarine

Heat waffle iron. Blend chopped eggs with relish and then with remaining ingredients except bread and butter. Make sandwiches, using ¼ cup filling for each sandwich. Brush outside surfaces of sandwiches with melted butter or margarine. Place on waffle iron and lower cover. Cook, according to waffle iron directions, until sandwiches are golden brown and crisp. Serve hot. Yield: 9 sandwiches.

GIBLET SANDWICHES

Mince cooked giblets. Heat drippings from baked chicken in skillet. Add giblets and sprinkle with enough flour to absorb fat. Add ½ cup hot water to baking pan and stir until remaining drippings have been absorbed. Stir liquid slowly into giblet mixture while cooking over low heat. Add more water and also salt if needed. Pour over hot toast.

LEFTOVER CHICKEN PIECES

If wings or other portions of cooked chicken are left over, heat in the giblet sauce before pouring over toast.

YOUR FOOD PROBLEM

By Edith M. Barber

EXPECTING a contingent of sandwich eaters? Then bring out the waffle iron, put everything before them, and let them make their own checkered egg sandwiches.

Food Packing Requires Care When Storing for Market

Food packaging has been a boon both to distributors and to consumers. Convenience and sanitation are great assets while foods are stored in the markets. There are certain points with which the housekeeper should be familiar, however, after purchases have been made.

For instance, that tight transparent film used for fresh poultry and and meat is excellent, but the tight wrapping should be removed or at least loosened when the products are to be stored in the body of the refrigerator. This is particularly important for chicken giblets, which are often packed in a separate bag.

All meat products stored in the body of the refrigerator should be placed on the coldest shelf. It is well to use all fresh meats within a few days of purchase.

Frozen products need not be removed from their wrappings when they are allowed to thaw on the refrigerator shelf or more quickly at room temperature. Of course, if stored in the freezing compartment, they should remain in the wrap.

Avocado Has Many Varied Uses

What is the difference between an avocado and a Calavo? That's a question which has come recently, as it does every year at this season. Both of these are actually developments of the original alligator pear.

Those that come from Florida and some that come from California are called avocados. Often, called Calavos. The term "salad fruit" might justly be used to describe both. The flavor is mild but satisfying as this is the only fruit with a fat content.

In the preparation of salads, the combination of a citrus fruit with the avocado supplies contrast both in flavor and texture. Fluffy rice, cooked and chilled, is a good addition for a hearty luncheon or supper salad. The practice of using rice in a salad may be a novel suggestion.

The avocado in mashed form makes a good foundation for a dip or a sandwich spread. It needs to be well seasoned with onion and other herbs. Combined with crab meat, either fresh or canned, it supplies a good filling for a luncheon sandwich to serve with a green salad.

It should be mentioned that the avocado when served halved or sliced should be prepared just before it is to be used and, preferably, sprinkled with lemon or lime juice to prevent color change.

AVOCADO, ORANGE, GRAPEFRUIT RICE SALAD

1-3 cup French dressing
2 cups cooked rice
2 oranges, sectioned
1 grapefruit, sectioned
1 avocado
1 tablespoon lemon or lime juice
Salad greens

Stir French dressing into cooked rice. Add orange and grapefruit sections and chill. Just before serving, cut avocado in half. Remove seed and skin and cut into long thin slices. Pour lemon or lime juice over slices. Mound fruit-rice mixture on salad greens and arrange avocado slices over this. Yield: 8 servings.

TOASTED CRAB AND AVOCADO SANDWICH

1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 tablespoon minced onion
¼ cup mayonnaise
½ cup minced celery
2 tablespoons minced parsley
¼ teaspoon paprika
1 cup fresh or canned crab meat
1 large avocado
8 slices bread
Butter

Combine lemon juice and onion and let stand 3 minutes. Combine with mayonnaise, celery, parsley, paprika and crab meat. Cut avocado in half, remove skin and seed and cut into slices. Toast bread and butter each slice lightly. Cover 1 slice with crab mixture and top with avocado slices. Cover with second slice of toast and cut sandwich into quarters. Garnish with ripe olives, if desired. Yield: 4 servings.

TURKEY PILAF

½ cup butter or margarine
4 mushrooms, finely sliced
3 tablespoons finely shredded green pepper
1 cup top milk
¼ cup sour cream
1 tablespoon tomato sauce
2 tablespoons prepared mustard
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon cayenne pepper
2 cups diced cooked turkey
2 medium onions, sliced
3 cups cooked rice
¼ cup browned, blanched almonds

Heat half the fat in skillet. Add mushrooms and green pepper, and cook over low heat about 5 minutes. Stir in light cream. Combine sour cream, tomato sauce and prepared mustard, and add to mushroom mixture. Add salt, cayenne pepper and diced turkey. Heat remaining fat and brown onion slices until crisp. Add to turkey mixture. Serve in ring of cooked rice, and garnish with browned almonds.

Condensing Formed Basis For Milk Supply

Recently, a column was devoted to the important effect that the process of pasteurization of milk has had on the reduction of contagious diseases. The general improvement in the milk supply should be given credit for other and even more important contributions to good health.

It has been brought home this year that it was actually the invention of a practical method for condensing milk, initiated just a hundred years ago, which furnished the basis for modern milk supply. At that time, fluid milk was distributed in cans from door to door, and was ladled into containers the housekeeper furnished.

The inventor of the process of condensing milk was Gail Borden, who soon found that for a good quality canned product the milk itself must be fresh and sanitary, and farmers would have a larger milk supply for him to use if cattle were better fed. The demand for condensed milk was greatly increased by the Civil War.

Condensed milk, which is sweetened, and evaporated milk still have a large use and are manufactured by many firms. At the same time, the sales of safe, good quality fluid milk have increased to a much greater extent. Five or six times as much of this is used today. Most people keep a reserve supply of canned or dry milk on hand to serve as a supplement.

MHS Made No Money at Ford City

Monessen High's appearance in the Ford City Tournament wasn't exactly an artistic success as the Hounds lost both of their assignments. Now it turns out that the trip wasn't a glowing financial triumph, either. According to tourney officials, Monessen's share of the gate receipts amounted to $263.01. And since the MHS expenses came to $260, that left a net profit of $3.01 . . . Just for the record, though, Greyhound authorities aren't fretting. The Monessen boys received fine treatment at Ford City and the tourney was certainly worthwhile in other respects . . . The Ford City figures do show, though, that holiday tournaments are slipping a little in popularity.

Jannotta to Speak to Knights

Joe Jannotta, the Daily Independent's bowling columnist, will be the guest speaker at a meeting of the Belle Vernon Knights of Columbus tonight . . . On Sunday, Thomas Preston — Monessen High's sports historian — will speak to a Communion breakfast at St. Sebastian Church in Belle Vernon . . . Did you notice those pictures in a Pittsburgh paper which showed McKeesport Coach Neenie Campbell and official Cliff Fair exchanging scowls during the recent McKeesport-Duquesne game? Oddly enough, the argument wasn't over a foul. Neenie was objecting to Fair's insistence on handling the ball in back court whenever the Tigers took it out-of-bounds. The Tiger tutor figured the official was giving the Dukes time to move into a defensive position.

In New Kensington High, a contest was sponsored recently to find a symbol of the Red Raider — the school's sports nickname. There were lots of suggestions, including a modern day Hercules and an Indian Head. However the winning entry was a red fox . . . Dr. William Kovar, Uniontown High principal, denies a published report that there's agitation to have his school moved out of Section 2 in the WPIAL basketball program. The home town press, though, has stated otherwise . . . Incidentally there seems to be more sentiment than ever at the moment for a wholesale shakeup of WPIAL sections. Don't bet on it happening, however.

Section 5 Has More Than Two Teams

Along that line, Brownsville's upset win over Monessen last week just might have saved the Section 5 alignment for the time being. There were those who felt the valley race had deteriorated into a two team affair — Charleroi and Monessen. Brownsville proved otherwise . . . Down Monongahela way, they have high hopes for the basketball future. And so does Donora and California. In short, both Monessen and Charleroi may find it hard to stay in the first division the next couple of seasons. Thus, those pleas for a change in Section 5 may have been premature on the part of a couple of valley schools.

Dodgers Look for Lefty Pinch Hitters

By JACK CUDDY

NEW YORK (UP)—Right now, the horseshoe nail that might lose or win the battle for Brooklyn in defense of its National League pennant this year seems to be a left-handed pinch hitter.

At least that's the impression one gets at Dodger headquarters, where there's actually more talk about a portside clutch guy than about Roy Campanella's surgically sculptured hands.

The retirement of Dale Mitchell after the World Series, to go into business, left the pinch-hitting gap. And the question now is, whether any one of six possibles can fill it.

Even Pitcher Considered

The half-dozen mentioned are pitcher Don Newcombe, catcher Rube Walker, Infielder Jim Gilliam (if not in the lineup), pitcher Johnny Podres, Bert Hamric—up again for another shot at the outfield, and John Roseboro, a backstop hopeful who throws right-handed but hits left-handed and knocked 25 home runs with Montreal last season.

The Dodger front office hopes particularly that either Hamric or Roseboro can stay with the club and fill the gap—in keeping with the club's rebuilding policy.

On the banks of the Gowanus, there is indeed a concentration on rebuilding.

The disposal of Jackie Robinson sounded Brooklyn's rebuilding key note. And other veterans will go when their times come—men like Campanella, PeeWee Reese, Sal Maglie, Carl Furillo, Duke Snider, Carl Erskine and Gil Hodges.

Meanwhile Manager Walt Alston and his aides will be more than ever intent during spring training on trying to pick out youngsters who can be blended in with the veterans—soon.

Pitching hopefuls are Fred Kipp, southpaw knuckler from the Montreal club; and Roger Craig, Don Drysdale, Sandy Koufax and Chuck Templeton, who were with Brooklyn last season.

Jim Gentile, a first baseman who hit 40 home runs with Fort Worth last season and led the Dodgers in all batting departments on their post-season tour of Japan, may stick in Brooklyn this time. Likewise third-sacker Dick Gray from Fort Worth. And their outfield teammate, Don Demeter, who hit 41 homers in '56.

Globetrotters Entertain 3,000 Fans

The Harlem Globetrotters lived up to their fun-loving reputation last night at the Monessen gym where they thoroughly entertained almost 3,000 fans.

No one was particularly interested, but the Trotters "officially" defeated the House of David, 63-61.

Actually the game was nothing more than a stage for the famed Trotter clowning set. And Coach Abe Saperstein's boys made the most of it.

At half-time, the big crowd stayed seated for a vaudeville show now touring with the Trotters.

At the end, the appreacite audience, which paid $3 per ticket, gave the troupe a big hand for an entertaining performance.

The show was promoted by the Monessen Knights of Columbus.

Tri-County Grid Loop Organize

A Tri-County Football Conference—made up of 14 area Class A schools—was formally organized last night during a meeting in Brownsville

A constitution prepared by the steering committee was adopted and arrangements made to begin league operations this season.

The Conference will be divided into two divisions

Making up the Eastern Division will be Bellmar, North Union, South Union, German, Dunbar, Scottdale, and Albert Gallatin.

The latter school will not enter the Conference until 1958 That's when Pt. Marion and Masontown will form a jointure to produce the new team.

Western Division

The Western Division lineup includes Carmichaels, Jefferson, Bethlehem, Waynesburg, California, Chartiers and Burgettstown

By 1958, it is hoped that all scnedules will be arranged so that each team will meet every other in its division.

This year, champions will be determined on the basis of Gardner Point ratings computed against divisional foes.

Tentative plans call for the division champs to meet in a post season game to decide the Conference titlist.

Managed by Principals

According to the newly-adopted constitution, the league will be manabed by a seven member Board of Control made up of school principals. The yearly dues will be $5.

Chairman of the steering committee, which drew up the constitution, was Raymond Barker principal at Bellmar.

Barker and his committee have been meeting for the past two months to work out details of the Conference.

Doctors to Treat Saddler's Eye

NEW YORK (UP)—Doctors expressed hope today that a new dehydration treatment will avoid the necessity of an eye operation for retired featherweight boxing champion Sandy Saddler.

Saddler, who said when he gave up his crown last month because doctors had advised him he might become totally blind if he fought again, entered Flower Fifth Ave Hospital for treatment last Monday.

The former champion claims that the injury to his right eye is the result of an auto accident in which he was involved last summer.

Dr. Arthur Alexander Knapp, Saddler's physician, said Wednesday an examination has revealed the retina of Saddler's right eye is pulled out of position and also there is fluid in back of the eye.

Sports Fans Rally To Aid of Injured Geneva Gridder

By UNITED PRESS

Sports fans, editors and college students worked on several fronts today to make the Richard Kadis Day Fund a success.

Richard Kadis Day is March 2 and the fund goal is a minimum of $10,000 to help pay the medical expenses of the hospitalized Geneva (Pa.) College football player.

Kadis, 21, now in a Cleveland hospital, suffered a brain injury in the Geneva-Waynesburg football game last Sept. 29. He is unconscious most of the time and recognizes no one.

Sports Editors Unite

Campaigns to raise funds to meet the $14,000 in medical expenses already incurred and for payment of future costs are underway in Western Pennsylvania and Eastern Ohio.

The Richard Kadis Day Fund is the biggest thus far.

Its chairman is Dick Kunkle, Waynesburg sports editor. He and Douglas McIntire, Uniontown sports editor, are contacting sports editors in Western Pennsylvania and Eastern Ohio to join in coordinated efforts to achieve the campaign's goal.

Various events already have been scheduled in Greene and Fayette counties in Southwestern Pennsylvania for March 2 and the preceding week.

Campaign In Beaver Falls

Pittsburgh telecaster Carl Ide of Station KDKA-TV also launched a fund-raising drive for the injured athlete last week in conjunction with the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

Another newly organized drive is the Kadis Fund Campaign under the direction of Dr. L. D. Smith, superintendent of schools at Beaver Falls, Pa.

It also has many events planned, including a benefit basketball game Feb 23 oetween Geneva College and the Fort Knox, Ky., Tankers in the Beaver Falls High School gym.

Playing with the Tankers will be Julius McCoy, former outstanding player for Farrell High School, and two former Geneva stars, Stan Yukica, of Midland, and Ken Woodeshick, of Monaca.

The game will pit Geneva's two leading all-time scorers, Billy Blair, who now holds the record, and Yukica, who held it previously.

Fish Bill Set At $50,000

HARRISBURG (UP)—The House of Representatives today received a bill to appropriate $50,000 to the State Fish Commission as partial reimbursement for the 147,000 trout killed by pollution in Benner Springs, Centre County, last December.

The proposal, sponsored by Rep. Reginald P. Stimmel, (R-Lehigh), was similar to a measure introduced in the state Senate this week to allocate $43,891 to replace the hatchery trout.

The total cost of the fish was set at $74,441. They were killed when a poisonous solution was dumped in the stream at Pennsylvania State University. The Commonwealth has not decided who will foot the bill since the university is state supported.

Greyhounds Challenge Trojans Tomorrow In Section 5 Play

Mathematically, the Monessen High basketballers are still contenders for Section 5 honors.

However even that faint hope will be dashed unless the Hounds come through with a victory tomorrow in their game at California.

That may not be too easy.

Certainly Coach Bill Watkins' California boys look every bit as formidable on their own floor as did the Brownsville Brownies. And the Brownies clipped the Hounds by a point.

Earlier in the season, Monessen handled California by 16 points. Most of that margin, though, was piled up in the final period.

Good or Bad

Coach Frank Janosik's dribblers have shown a tendency this season to be very good or very bad. If they're very bad at California, they'll lose. If they're very good, then they should win without too much trouble.

The Trojans have surprised observers by winning four of their seven league assignments. They have been improving steadily throughout the season

With most of the California lineup comprised of undergraduates, that means the Trojans' future looks fairly bright.

Monessen's hopes in the game were boosted somewhat by the fact that Joe Kurey, a 6-0 junior whom MHS coaches have nursed along, now appears ready for full-time duty.

The smooth-working Kurey tossed in 24 points on Tuesday against Bellmar.

Heavy Share

Janosik has tutored Kurey carefully and he now feels the talented junior is ready to carry a heavy share of the MHS offensive burden.

Another important Section 5 game tomorrow will send Charleroi to Brownsville.

The Brownies haven't lost a game on their own floor this season. They have high hopes of upsetting the unbeaten Cougars.

If they do come through with a surprise, then the Section 5 race will be tightened considerably However realistic experts predict an easy win for the Charlerotans.

Completing the Section 5 card tomorrow will be the Donora-at-Bellmar game.

Lots of Trouble

The Canes gave the Dragons lots of trouble earlier in the season and they figure to do even better this time with the added home floor advantage.

In Section 10, ambitious Rostraver will try to keep its title hopes alive at Ligonier.

Pace-setting Derry figures to have no trouble at Dunbar while Scottdale and Hurst battle it out for second place.

The big game in Section 17 will show Perryopolis at West Newton.

Perry is tied for first place with a 5-1 record. However West Newton has title hopes, too, boasting a 4-2 mark. If the Hornets win — then beat Irwin at home next week — they could create a three way-deadlock for loop laurels.

Other Section 17 games will show South Huntingdon at East Huntingdon and Sewickley Twp. at Irwin.

Sime to Run in Rangoon, Burma

NEW YORK (UP)—Dave Sime, Duke University sprinter, will not be able to compete in Saturday's Millrose Games and two other New York indoor meets because he is scheduled to run in the Asian Track and Field Meet in Rangoon, Burma, Feb. 11.

Vernon Takes on Rostraver Jrs. In Section 3

Vernon and Rostraver Junior High teams will meet today at the Leo gym to decide the Section 3 lead, at least for the time being.

Both quints will go into the game with 6-1 records.

Earlier in the year, Vernon tripped the Little Leps by 35-33 score. It may be different this time, though, with Rostraver owning the home floor edge

Vernon's only loss of the season was administered by Carroll Twp., 39-37. The Puppies avenged that setback on Tuesday with a one point decision.

One other Junior High game is on tap today. Monongahela will go to Charleroi in Section 2.

Tomorrow the Section 2 card will show Monessen at Donora and California at Washington.

The Friday fare in Section 3 will have Perryopolis at Fallowfield and Marion at Carroll Twp.

City League to Decide Future

Meet Tonight at Civic Center To Discuss Plans for Playoffs

The immediate future of the City Basketball League will be decided tonight during a meeting in Memorial Civic Center beginning at 7:30 p. m.

League president Goerge Nicksich called the meeting after cancelling third round action earlier in the week.

At that time, Nicksich said he was halting the regular season for a number of reasons. One of them was the fact that several teams have been forfeiting games of late.

Nicksich also pointed out that upcoming tournaments will interfere with the schedule. He said the Junior High gym will be available only through the week of March 4.

Hardly Time

That means the league will hardly have time to stage third round games.

In view of those obstacles, the league will probably decide tonight to dive into the playoffs right away, possibly as early as Saturday.

As matters stand, the Cro-Ams, Viaduct and Big Five rank one-two-three in the standings.

Two teams are tied for fourth with identical 8-8 records: Fuocos A. C. and the Ozarks.

City League standings follow:

Pirates Sign College Player To Bonus Contract

PITTSBURGH (UP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates today signed Harold (Buddy) Pritchard, 21-year-old University of Southern California shortstop, to a "sizeable" bonus contract.

General Manager Joe L. Brown and Branch Rickey Jr., Pirate farm director, signed the prospect early today in Los Angeles. "We have been following Pritchard closely for the last four years," a Pirate spokesman said here.

Pritchard, who is 6 feet tall and weighs 165 pounds, is a righthander all the way. Captain of the college varsity team last season, he hit .385 and was chosen for the all-star college teams of the Pacific Coast League, the All-California Intercollegiate Baseball Association and the College All-Star group.

Hit at .438 Clip

Last season Pritchard hit .438 while playing with the Marshall team in the Minnesota Summer semi-pro league.

Brown said the Pirates outbid 11 other major league teams which sought Pritchard. Club officials would not reveal the amount of the bonus but said it was "sizeable."

Pritchard was a sensation as a scholastic player. He was graduated from Bell High School in 1953 and was chosen for the All - scholastic team in southern California.

The signing of the prospect raises the Pirate roster to 43, one over the pre-season limit but club officials indicated another player would be assigned to a minor league affiliate within a few days.

Pritchard, still enrolled at Southern Cal, will report to the Pirates training camp at Ft. Myers, Fla., Feb. 28.

Burdock Will Defend Duckpin Bowling Crown

Monessen's Pauline Burdock, who rolled a sizzling all series in league play last week, will defend her Pittsburgh district duckpin title on Sunday, April 28.

Burdock won the coveted crown for women last year in the annual tournament staged by the Sun Telegraph.

This year's event will actually begin on Feb. 23 and will cover weekends up to the title date.

Pauline, as defending champion, will qualify for the title round without taking part in the eliminations.

In all, eleven women will emerge from the early rounds to join Burdock in the championship rolloffs.

At least two other Monessen bowlers — Babe Kroskie and Mary Palm — will enter the tourney. They are scheduled to bowl on March 23rd along with other Mon Valley contestants.

Once again the tourney will be held in the Auditorium Bowling Alleys in East Liberty, Pittsburgh.

Penn State and Dukes Lose in Cage Tussles

By UNITED PRESS

Western Pennsylvania teams couldn't come up with a victory against out of state opponents in Wednesday night's college basketball activity.

Penn State lost to Navy at Annapolis, 53-48; St. Vincent dropped a close one to Steubenville, 69-66, at Latrobe, and Duquesne was trimmed by the Quantico Marines, 85-72, in an exhibition game at Pittsburgh.

In another game, Carnegie Tech defeated Grove City, 67-63, in a close contest.

The Penn State-Navy game was a tight affair in the first half, but the Middies pulled ahead fast after the intermission and built a 15-point lead. After that the best the Lions could do was whittle the margin slowly.

St. Vincent, down 28-35 at halftime, outscored visiting Steubenville in the second half but the Barons staved off the rally. It was St. Vincent's eighth loss in 15 games and the Barons' 13th win

Largest Total

Former Annapolis star Don Lange scored 31 points, the largest total against Duquesne by an opposing player this season, to lead the Quantico Marines to victory. Quantico held a 36-34 intermission edge and was never headed in the second half.

Carnegie Tech, held to a 27-27 intermission tie, jumped to a 46-37 lead in the second half and in the final eight minutes went into a semi-freeze to preserve its lead. It was Tech's fifth victory against 11 defeats and the third loss for Grove City in nine starts.

Giardello Hard Pressed to Beat Randy Sandy

CHICAGO (UP)— A victorious but thoroughly dissatisfied Joey Giardello today rated Rory Calhoun as the next target on his path toward the middleweight title.

"I'll do better against Calhoun than I did in this one," Giardello said after scoring a split decision over Randy Sandy, a 9-2 underdog in a 10-round battle at the Chicago Stadium Wednesday night.

The win was Giardello's seventh straight ring triumph and ended Sandy's string at five.

"I was overconfident," Giardello said. "I thought I'd knock him out in two rounds. I thought that for the last couple of weeks, ever since I signed for the match.

"But I just couldn't get off. I don't know what was wrong," the Philadelphia battler said.

Giardello, ranked second among the middleweights by the National Boxing Association, was unimpressive in beating Sandy for his 65th win in 83 professional starts.

Referee Walter Brightmore gave him a 48-44 edge and Judge Spike McAdams a 47-45 margin. Judge Frank Clark's vote went to Sandy, 47-46.

Of eight writers at the ringside, six gave Giardello an edge of one, two or three points, one gave Sandy a five point margin and the United Press card had the fight a draw.

Delany Seeks Cup This Week

NEW YORK (UP)—Ron Delany of Ireland and Villanova, who won the Wanamaker Mile in the Millrose Track and Field Meet last year, can gain permanent possession of the cup that goes with victory by winning again this Saturday. Charlie Jenkins, winner of the 600-yard event in 1956, can keep the Mel Sheppard Trophy if he repeats.

A tornado is the result of merging of air masses of widely varying temperatures.

Bonus Pitcher May Beat End Of His Career

By UNITED PRESS

Frank Baumann, a swift southpaw from St. Louis who received an $85,000 bonus from the Boston Red Sox five years ago, may have come to the end of a brief major league career because of an elbow injury.

The Red Sox announced that the 23-year-old Baumann has been assigned to their Oklahoma City farm club of the Texas League on 24-hour option with orders to report next month to Oklahoma City camp at Orlando, Fla.

The Sox also announced that southpaw pitcher Jack Spring of Miami of the International League has signed his '57 Red Sox contract.

The New York Giants brought their total of players signed to 31 with agreements from pitchers Max Surkont (2-2) and Ramon Monzant.

The New York Yankees reached 17 under contract with pacts from three rookie pitchers—Al Cicotte, who was 15-12 with Richmond; and Jim O'Reilly, 10-10 with Birmingham of the Southern Association.

'Little Man' Takes Lead in College Basketball Scoring

By UNITED PRESS

The little man's day dawned at last today in college basketball.

Five-foot, nine-inch Chet (The Jet) Forte of Columbia has taken the national scoring leadership away from seven-foot Wilt (The Stilt) Chamberlain of Kansas on the strength of a 36-point performance Wednesday night against Yale.

Forte's brilliant showing wasn't enough to save his team from an upset, for Yale notched a 103-87 decision to take undisputed possession of second place in the Ivy League.

But it did give the little Lion an average of 30.2 points per game, passing the 29.8 mark held by Chamberlain — who has been No. 1 in the national scoring parade almost since the start of the season.

Two Other Upsets

Forte notched only nine points in the first half Wednesday night, then got 26 in the second half. But Larry Downs' 31 points led Yale to victory.

Forte's feat took the national spotlight despite two other major upsets, both featuring that ol' devil zone defense.

Louisville, the nation's No. 6 team and highest-ranked independent squad, was handed its second straight upset, 85-74, by Morehead State of Kentucky and Canisius, ranked No. 11 nationally, fell short in a late rally and bowed to Marquette in a thriller at Milwaukee, 81-80.

Morehead used a "two-three" version of the zone against Louisville and forced the high-ranked Cardinals to commit a bushel of fouls. It also held six-eight Charley Tyra, Louisville's All-America candidate, to nine points during the first half while Morehead was rolling up a 47-37 lead.

Fouls Prove Downfall

Louisville actually outscored Morehead in baskets, but Morehead got 43 free throw chances and sank 33 while Louisville canned only 16 of 22. Tyra rallied in the second half and finished with 21 points, but Steve Hamilton had 35 and Dave Kelleher 22 for Morehead to outshine him. It was Louisville's second straight loss and fourth in 18 games.

Canisius was so baffled by Marquette's zone that it sank only 31 of 90 shots, but even so staged a superb rally that almost wiped out a seven-point deficit in the last minute. Six-eight sophomore Mike Moran led Marquette with 34 points and soph Jim McCoy had 23.

In other leading games: Carmen Riazzi's tip-in with 14 seconds left gave Dayton a double-overtime, 68-67 win over Miami of Ohio; Bowling Green pushed its record to 12-5 with an 83-75 victory over Loyola (Ill.); Temple downed Villanova, 81-72; Colgate beat Cornell, 75-63; Princeton whipped Rutgers, 69-53; Pennsylvania nipped Brown, 67-66; Army beat Albright, 90-74; Navy edged Penn State, 53-48; and Washington (Mo) beat Portland, 72-65.

Two high-ranked teams are scheduled tonight: 10th-ranked Iowa State against Drake and 15th-ranked Wake Forest against South Carolina.

Suggests More Poll Halls in U. S.

CHICAGO (UP)—More old fashioned poolrooms would help solve juvenile delinquency, the world three cushion billiard champion said today.

"They kept teen-aged boys off the streets and gave them something more worthwhile to do than run around in souped-up cars chasing girls," Harold Worst, 28, said.

"They were like neighborhood clubs and even a kid looking for trouble couldn't do more than get into a short fist fight," Worst said. "Now, the only time you hear of pool rooms is when a television show portrays narcotics peddlers."

Great Athlete Goes to Clemson

CLEMSON, S C., (UP)—Tommy Simonovitch, often described as one of New Jersey's finest high school athletes, has accepted an athletic scholarship at Clemson College. Simonovitch, who lives in West New York, N.J., excelled in football, baseball and basketball in high school, but plans to concentrate in baseball and basketball at Clemson.

100 Sports Cars Set for Race

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (UP)—More than 100 sports cars, including almost every major American and European make, were scheduled to compete today in "flying mile" runs in the NASCAR "speed week" competition on Dayton's hard-packed sands.

The target will be the record of 164.24 miles per hour held by Bill Walters of Long Island, N.Y.

Today's racing will be strictly against the clock. Each driver will have two miles in which to get his car up to maximum speed, one mile in which to clock its high speed for the competition, and two miles to slow down.

Fords dominated yesterday's competition in the main event acceleration trials.

In the event for souped-up experimental cars, Ford Thunderbirds were first and third, a Mercury second, and a Plymouth with a Chrysler engine fourth. In the acceleration race among pickup trucks, a Ford was first and a Chevrolet second.

Israel Risks Sanctions Before Leaving Gaza

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UP) —Israel indicated today it would risk economic sanctions by the United Nations before withdrawing from the Gaza and Aqaba strips without non-aggression assurances from Egypt.

A dispatch from Jerusalem said Israeli Premier David Ben-Gurion told his cabinet in a closed meeting that Israel cannot accept a request to "commit suicide" by unconditional withdrawal.

Israeli Ambassador Abba S. Eban presented his country's case to Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold here at UN headquarters after the cabinet meeting in Jerusalem Wednesday.

Informed Jerusalem sources said Eban was instructed to tell Hammarskjold that freedom of navigation on the Gulf of Aqaba and security from raids from the Gaza Strip were questions of "life or death" on which Israel could not yield its position.

A report from the Sinai Peninsula today said Israeli forces withdrew from parts of the Gaza and Aqaba strips earlier this week but moved back into position within 24 hours.

United Press Staff Correspondent David Bishai reported from El Arish that UN observers said the brief drawback occurred shortly after the United Nations passed its latest resolution Saturday night. It called for immediate withdrawal of Israel from Egyptian territory.

UN observers told Bishai the Israelis even blew up military installations at Rafah, at the western edge of the Gaza Strip.

INDICTED FOR ESPIONAGE — Jack Soble, 53, and his Russian-born wife, Myra, 52, appear in New York federal court where they were indicted on espionage charges carrying a possible death penalty. They, along with Jacob Albam, were named on six counts each in true bills returned by a grand jury.

Italian Traffic Expert Praises American Pedestrians in Report

By DOC QUIGG

NEW YORK (UP) — One of the most arresting—and, to a New Yorker, funniest—pieces of intelligence to reach these shores recently is a dispatch from Rome, Italy, about the Eternal City's eternal traffic problems.

A Rome traffic expert, Prof. Alberto de Rossi, after a study-visit to the United States, is quoted as saying that the only thing that could really solve the problem would be (no gasping, now, please) replacing all Roman pedestrians with Americans.

The good professor, in a lecture at the Rome Auto Club, discussed his countrymen's love of walking leisurely across busy streets. He said American traffic control systems would help a lot in Rome but:

"A very important element on which we unfortunately cannot count, is the discipline of American pedestrians."

These statements led to two conclusions about this Roman expert's visit to America. (1) He shot through New York so fast he didn't have time to look around him, or (2) Someone mercifully blindfolded him while here so he wouldn't contract the screaming horrors at what he saw.

While granting that the general pattern in America is for the pedestrian to be pretty well behaved, let's admit that New York is an island entire to its precious pedestrian self. New York is the place in which the word pedestrian connotes a headstrong ball of fire. He has a fine disdain for those two-ton hunks of metal hurtling down the street.

The New York pedestrian is the nearest thing to a free soul you can find. In Rome, they may walk leisurely across streets. In New York, it is common to see a pedestrian saunter out against the lights into a stream of traffic and lift his hand in a command that it halt.

Man and boy reporter, I have visited numerous climes and gawked on many streets. An opinion based on that gawking is that a practicing New York pedestrian would be dead or maimed in five minutes if he were suddenly transported to Cleveland, Chicago, Honolulu, or Tokyo.

It is dreadfully unfasionable in New York to remain on the sidewalk while waiting at a corner. Everybody moves out five or ten feet into the street just to show the drivers who is boss. The pedestrian here has the qualities of the world's best infantryman—he advances, stands his ground, never retreats.

T. T. Wiley, New York traffic commissioner who about a year ago successfully cracked down on nervous Nellie horn blowing, is thinking of r'aring back and passing a regulation against jaywalking. O.K., T.T., just try it. We'll be hub-deep in neuroses. A New Yorker who can't jaywalk is likely to crack up, howling crazy, at the curbstone.

Legislators Are Urging More Video Stations

HARRISBURG (UP) — Four Allegheny County legislators are urging the licensing of additional VHF television stations in their county.

The four introduced a resolution in the House of Representatives contending that since the Federal Communications Commission licensed VHF station WDTV in 1949 no other VHF applications have been approved.

The measure said the failure of the FCC to grant new licenses has deprived the county's television set owners of "program choices" and impeded the growth of the television industry in the area.

The resolution, sponsored by Republicans Jules Filo, Joseph P. Rigby and Willard F. Agnew Jr. and Democrat Walter T. Kamyko, asks that the House bring the matter to the attention of the federal agency and the Pennsylvania congressmen.

Hits Mental Health Cuts in State Budget

HARRISBURG (UP)—An organization devoted to improving conditions for Pennsylvania's mentally ill today termed the $221,000,000 appropriation proposed by Gov. George M. Leader for the state Welfare Department in the state budget the "rock bottom" for its operation.

Charles H. Frazier, president of Pennsylvania Mental Health, Inc., contended that any cuts in the department's appropriations would "cripple" the program to rehabilitate mental patients in state institutions.

He said present mental health operators are "still far below standard.

Frazier said that for long term economy there should be an increase of 10 to 20 per cent in the proposed department budget.

"These additional monies would make it possible to recruit and retain the professional and technical staff required to give mental patients the kind of care which would get them out of institutions faster and help them become self supporting citizens again," Frazier said. "The alternative is to continue the old practice of short-changing mental patients by providing custodial care only, which leads to long-term institutionalization, over-crowding and other evils which the governor, the Legislature and the department are trying so desperately to overcome."

Wise Lawmakers Approve Expenses

HARRISBURG (UP)—Pennsylvania lawmakers today took steps to correct an oversight which arose at the end of last year's record long legislative sessions.

The legislators voted to pay themselves their regular expense allowances for the last half of 1956 and the first five months of this year. In the hurry to adjourn finally last year they forgot the legislation needed to get their regular expense checks for the final six months of last year.

The deficiency appropriation for the expenses was passed by the Senate yesterday and was quickly concurred in by the House. It totals $504,750.

No Job Security For Congressman

WASHINGTON (UP) — Rep. Charles H. Brown (D-Mo), who unseated a veteran Republican congressman in a heavily Republican district last November, declined to yield the floor to a colleague during a House debate Wednesday.

"If I'm going to say anything here, I've got to say it now —and fast," he said.
